

GERMANY SENDS A NOTE OF ATTACK ON ORDUNA; DEEPER COMPLICATIONS

DEFENSE OF ATTACK ON LINER ADDS TO GRAVITY OF SITUATION BETWEEN U. S. AND TEUTONIC ALLIES.

SIGNS OF WEAKENING

One Set at Washington Shows Tendency to Submit Arabic and Lusitania Controversies to Arbitration.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Washington, D. C., September 11.—The note delivered to Ambassador Gerard by the German foreign office yesterday, which was believed to be a supplemental communication on the sinking of the Arabic, now is understood to be a note on the Lusitania.

Will Defend Attack.

The note had not been received in Washington early today and the state department had no information of its whereabouts. In circles close to the German embassy, however, it was said that the note contained a defense of the attack on the Arabic and that when its contents were known it probably would be developed the German government claimed some sort of justification for an attack on the liner. The Arabic was chased and shelled by a submarine after a torpedo had missed her stern by a few yards on July 9. She was on a trip to the United States and carried passengers 22 Americans. Ambassador Gerard made some inquiries by direction of Washington and the German note now on its way is understood to be the result.

What effect an attempt to justify the Orduna case would have on the situation already delicate by Germany's stand on the Arabic, was subject to wide speculation today among officials who regarded the atmosphere as far from favorable. The note is being awaited with some anxiety.

Overnight consideration of the note on the Arabic, indicated a softening of views among one set of officials, who are inclined to further negotiations with Germany. Their views cannot be stated as being President Wilson's, but their views will be urged on the president before he makes up his mind what to do.

While they agree Germany's reply is disappointing and unsatisfactory, they urged that the Arabic case has come down to questions of indemnity and that the explanations offered by Germany for the sinking of the White Star liner, differ materially from the statements in the hands of the United States Secretary of State. Those officials who favor further negotiations, contend that a proper way to determine which set of facts is correct is to let the matter go to the Hague where, they also contend, the question of indemnity could be arranged without endangering the principles for which the United States has been fighting.

Believe Germany Accepts Principle. There were indications in official sources today that the United States had received more official and informal intimations that despite the attacks on the Arabic and the Lusitania, the German government actually has accepted the principle that unarmed merchantmen should not be attacked without warning, unless they attempted to escape or resisted capture. There was no assumption, however, that the German government had appeared to evade official circles.

The new note the United States will send to Berlin probably will be delayed until the second half of October. It probably will point out for one thing, that the mere assumption by a submarine commander that his ship is about to be attacked and that he is justified in attacking, is not a sufficient justification for torpedoing an unresisting merchantman. Such a stand by the United States is not expected, however, that the United States will consider that the matter depends on Berlin.

Face Arbitration Question. Secretary Lansing expressed the view that the United States was now facing the question of whether it is willing to let a court of arbitration decide if the submarine commander was justified in his act. The court is understood to be the court of arbitration, the general subject of legality of submarine warfare. Mr. Lansing refused to comment on the attitude of the United States regarding the future action to be taken. He was admitted today, however, that after sifting the evidence submitted in the affidavits by passengers and officers of the ship, which is not being released, Secretary Lansing would not comment other than to say there is no evidence before him to indicate any submarine before the sinking of the ship.

Two Sources of Tension. The relations of the United States and Germany are high tension as a result of the Dumba incident and the character of the German reply. Destruction of the Lusitania, even high officials of the administration, should Austro-Hungarian express her displeasure at the sinking of the Dumba by German passport, Frederic C. Penfield.

Not would they be surprised to learn that the German note, which is prepared in the light of information that the American government contemplated serious action against the Austro-Hungarian ambassador.

Rough Waters Ahead? In other words, the two events are regarded as correlated. If this conclusion be correct then there are rough waters ahead.

Germany that the destruction of an "unfriendly" liner would be regarded as a "deliberately unfriendly" act after this note was served. Germany not only has failed to disavow the act of the submarine commander but has informed it.

However, she has declared she will not acknowledge any obligation to

CRACK INFANTRY OF ITALIAN ARMY FIGHTING IN THE CARSO

Photo shows a detachment of Bersaglieri, the crack infantry of the Italian army, battling at the outskirts of a forest in the Carso region. They had been hiding in the thickets seen at the left of the picture and upon the approach of the Austrians came out to meet them. The men are prepared with their bayonets in case of any charge by the enemy.

TAGGART TRIAL ON; "INSIDE TALES OUT"

Prosecutor of Alleged Grafters at Indianapolis Tears Lid Off Details of Party Machine Secrets.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Indianapolis, Sept. 11.—Methods by which the so-called machine candidates were nominated in primary of May 5, 1914, were related by Prosecutor Richter, who continued throughout the short session today of the trial of Mayor Joseph E. Bell, for election conspiracy in opening statement. He told the jury that Thos. Taggart and others, "collected a slush fund of $10,000 from brewers and others, and expense accounts were not filed according to law."

FIGHT FANS GATHER FOR NEW YORK BOUT

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] New York, Sept. 11.—New York held a large gathering of ring enthusiasts today to watch the fight between the two prizefighters, here under the Horton law. The ten round bout between Mackey McFarland of Chicago and Mike Gibbons of St. Paul, tonight has brought a large crowd of fans to the city. Nearly 200 admirers of McFarland arrived today from Chicago on a special train.

The Brighton Beach motorhome where the fight will take place has a seating capacity of 50,000 and while the promoters don't expect to fill it, they are confident that the seats sold will more than equal 25,000. The money will be divided, $17,500 to McFarland and $15,000 to Gibbons. It is the richest stake offered at a ring contest here in some time.

McFarland's last fight was on December 9, 1913, a ten round, no decision bout with Jack Britton in Milwaukee. The fact he has not taken part in a bout for nearly three years, placed him slightly below Gibbons in betting today Gibbons' last appearance in the ring was in Brooklyn, May 31, 1915 when he fought ten rounds with Soldier Barthel, no decision.

FRENCH REVIVE CUSTOM OF PLANTING SYMBOLICAL TREES.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Paris, Sept. 11.—The planting of symbolical trees which has been popular in France for generations, is likely to become general throughout the country this year. The first ceremony of this kind since the present war was recently held in Paris on the grounds of a hospital in the rue du Coudreau, where, in the presence of a number of convalescent soldiers, sisters of charity, and distinguished persons, Cervera, minister of war, presided.

At the same time he invited those present to return for the day when the "Tree of Victory" might also be planted there.

During the French Revolution it is said that more than 60,000 "Liberty Trees" were planted throughout France.

No Personal Animosity Exists Between Fighting Men of War

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Mainz, Germany, Sept. 11.—A visit to the officers' prison camp in the wonderful old chateau here, and a talk with the English, French, Belgian, Russian—as well as German—officers, completely destroys the impression that personal animosity and hate exist among the actual fighting men in the war.

The Mainz camp, which is one of the best war prisons of Germany, at present has a population of 555 officers, 60 of whom are British. The balance is almost equally divided between Russians and French and Belgians. Something over 100 common soldiers detailed as servants are quartered there in addition.

CONDENSARY COMPANY BEING REORGANIZED

Company is Formed Under the Laws of Maine With a Capital of $240,000.—Stockholders Named.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Madison, Wis., Sept. 11.—A reorganization of the Condensary Milk company, bankrupt, which conducted large plants at Middleton and Footville, Wis., has taken place by the incorporation of a new company under the laws of Maine, called the Valeria Evaporated Milk company, with capital of $240,000. The papers have been filed with the Wisconsin state department. The company is to take over the Valeria Condensed Milk company and the Footville Condensed Milk company. W. R. Montague of LaCrosse is president and manager. The stockholders are: Mr. Montague, C. F. Callaway and Frank Winter, La Crosse; E. A. Siefert, Reedsburg; David Lytle and E. Eckelstedt, Madison; Frank R. Lantry, Footville; Fred Luchinger, Belleville, and R. H. Hastings and William Hastings, Bethel, Maine.

BADGER POWDER MILL PATROLLED BY GUARD

Dupont Company's Plant Near Washburn, 1,200 Acres, Guarded by Armed Watchmen.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Washburn, Wis., Sept. 11.—The Dupont Powder company, with a large plant near here, is establishing a guard system to prevent trespassing. Forty guards will be stationed at the plant at all times in addition to the regular army force. The company is building a camp near the plant, where these watchmen and guards will be housed. It is said also that the company will erect a seven wire fence around the track of land, which comprises 1,200 acres.

CRIPPLES MINUS LEGS FORM THE DIRECTORATE OF WELFARE SOCIETY.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] New York, Sept. 11.—The filing in the county clerk's office here of the certificates of election of officers of the Cripples Welfare society, disclosed today a unique board of directors, in that all are cripples and all have only one leg.

Charles Noel Douglas, a writer, who has been crippled for many years is president; Madame Sarah Benhardt is first vice president; and Dr. William Seaton Coon is second vice president.

The society was organized with the purpose of supplying crutches with artificial legs, shoes and appliances, and securing for cripples employment for which they are best adapted.

SIR WILLIAM VAN HORNE, CANADIAN RAILROAD MAN, IS DYING AT MONTREAL.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Montreal, Sept. 11.—Sir William Van Horne, for years prominent in trans-continental railroad developments in Canada, is dying in Royal Victoria Hospital, here.

FRENCH TO RELIEVE ISOLATION OF SWISS

Promise to Take Action Allowing Mountain Country to Secure Imports Through French Posts.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Washington, Sept. 11.—Arrangements have been made by the French government to alleviate the practical isolation of Switzerland, because of war conditions at French ports, which ordinarily handled Swiss import business. A report made public today by the department of commerce from Vice Consul Dewit de Poole at Paris, says France has set aside the port of Calais solely for use of ocean traffic for retransshipment to the inland republic.

Swiss Boundaries Menaced. Basel, Switzerland, Sept. 8 (delayed in transmission).—There has been a further concentration of Belgian troops near the Swiss boundaries. The government is considering the advisability of calling additional troops to the colors to safeguard the northwestern frontier.

LANSING CONSIDERS CARRANZA PROPOSAL

Suggestion of a Meeting of Diplomats at Mexican Border in Place of Pan-American Conference, Received.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Washington, Sept. 11.—General Carranza's rejection of the Pan-American appeal for a peace conference in Mexico and his counter proposal for a meeting with the diplomats at some place along the Rio Grande to discuss Mexican affairs, "solely from an international point of view" will be considered by Secretary Lansing and other conferees at a meeting to take place in Washington within next few days.

SHOT OF SUBMARINE SINKS BIG STEAMER

Gunfire From German Submarine Sent Steamer Ville de Mostaganem to the Bottom.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Paris, Sept. 11.—A dispatch to the Havas Agency from Algiers, says that the steamer Ville de Mostaganem, which was on a voyage from Algiers to the United States, was sunk by a German submarine. Sixteen members of the crew, three of them wounded, have been picked up.

TURKEY TO GIVE UP LAND TO BULGARIA

Negotiations Between Two Countries on Boundary Adjustment Reported to Have Been Settled.

Sofia, Bulgaria, Sept. 11.—The Turkish-Bulgarian negotiations concerning a boundary adjustment have been concluded. Turkey will formally turn over to Bulgaria the territory in question within a few days.

WAR ADDS INCENTIVE TO RELIGIOUS DEVOTION.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Rome, Sept. 11.—The great extent to which warfare proves an incentive to religious devotion has been noted in correspondence from other belligerent countries, and Italy furnishes considerable more testimony to the same effect. Indeed, with but little exaggeration it may be said that the Italian army divides its spare moments between singing and praying. It is believed in Italy that King Victor's troops are the gayest and most light-hearted in all the war, for they always go into battle singing. Their first thought, on returning from a struggle, however, is a mass for the repose of the souls of comrades whom they had had to leave behind in the camps, after the devout services are over, is "Addio Mia Bella" (Good-bye, My Love).

EXTRA! FRENCH LINE UNDER FIRE IN ARGONNE

General Villa Is Reported Killed

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

El Paso, Tex., Sept. 11.—It is reported here that General Villa and General Fierro have been killed on a visit to a ranch near Santa Barbara. This information has been received here by United States officials and although it is said to be non-official, the federal representatives consider the source worthy of consideration.

General Villa with General Fierro and a force of four hundred Mexican rebels went to the Urdina ranch to secure for their government loot said to aggregate $500,000 which was collected three years ago.

They met with strong resistance and in the attack both generals are reported slain.

MEXICANS LEAVING AMERICAN SIDE TO CROSS RIO GRANDE

About Two Thousand Leave for Mexico Because of Clean-Up and Fear of Own Countrymen.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Brownsville, Tex., Sept. 11.—About 2,000 Mexicans have left this section for Mexico, according to figures obtained here today. At one ranch near Del Rio, Tex., four Mexican tenant families have left, leaving their crops unharvested and deserting what promised to be a record crop and large profits for themselves. These Mexicans here are known as "good Mexicans."

Mexican women form the largest part of the passengers crossing the Rio Grande here. They apparently being about the only class of persons in the disturbed area who believe they have nothing to fear. The Mexicans who have fled to Mexico have not gone alone on account of the rigid clean-up of bad characters made by American peace officers, but also in fear of bad men and revolutionists among their own people on the American side.

In addition to two Mexicans known to have been slain by their own people, it is stated two or three others, at least, have been killed by bandits.

Warned by Carranza. Carranza commanders on the border have been warned by their "first chief," General Carranza, that they will be held strictly accountable for any complication arising with the American government as a result of overt acts by Carranza soldiers on the border.

From an authoritative source it was learned that Carranza notified General Carranza, commander in chief, in Matamoras, that carelessness and inattention to troubles on the border will not be countenanced. Similar notification has been sent to General Riquelme, Carranza commander at Nuevo Laredo.

The situation on the border has been reported on by an agent of the Carranza government.

DEDICATE TABLET TO COLONEL LEVENWORTH

D. A. R. Chapter Unveils Tablet in Memory of First Commander at Fort Snelling, Minnesota.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] St. Paul, Sept. 11.—A tablet to the memory of Colonel Henry Levenworth, his command being the first Regular Infantry Regiment, was unveiled today by the Old Trail chapter of the D. A. R. Mrs. Richard Chute, for sixty-four years a resident of Minnesota, was to dedicate the tablet.

The tablet, which has been placed in the old round tower at the Fort.

Governor W. F. Hammond was to accept the tablet in behalf of the state and deliver an address on patriotism.

RHODE ISLAND WAR GOVERNOR IS DEAD

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Paris, Sept. 11.—William Sprague, famous war governor of Rhode Island, and twice United States senator, died at his residence here today morning at the age of eighty-four years. His death was due to meningitis, coupled with influenza.

Governor Sprague's funeral services will be held at the residence in this city, after which the body will be taken to Rhode Island for burial.

MOLINE IS VICTOR IN THREE-I LEAGUE

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Moline, Ill., Sept. 11.—Moline today clinched the pennant of the Three-I League for the second half, and will meet Davenport, winner of the first half pennant, in post season series, patterned after the National League world series, for championship.

INCREASE IN RESERVE HELD BY NEW YORK BANKS.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] New York, Sept. 11.—The actual condition of clearing house banks and trust companies for the week ending Sept. 10, 1915, shows reserves in excess of legal requirements. This is an increase of $15,012,080 over last week.

MORE BUILDING CHANGES ARRANGED FOR COURT HOUSE

Additional renovations to offices at the court house have been contracted for by the county building committee. New hardwood floors will be laid in the clerk of the circuit court office and also in the county clerk's office. The county clerk's chambers will be moved to the county clerk's office. The walls of these chambers will also undergo changes.

GERMAN CROWN PRINCE SUFFERS HEAVY LOSSES IN ATTEMPT TO BREAK ALLIES' DEFENSE.

LULL ON EAST FRONT

Russians Claim to Have Taken 5,000 Captives in Galicia—Germans Press on Toward Line of Smaller Forts.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Paris, Sept. 11.—Violent fighting in the Argonne on Wednesday and Thursday was the result of an effort of the German crown prince to break through the French lines.

The army of the crown prince has attempted several times in previous months to break through the French front, but so far has scored no definite success. The statement is made here that this army has lost upwards of 100,000 men. One corps alone lost 40,000 from the ranks which are being continually depleted and refilled.

The attempt of Wednesday and Thursday was made with powerful artillery and a large number of troops. Apparently it has had no appreciable results except that German losses were heavier than those they inflicted.

More Artillery Fighting. Last night saw uninterrupted artillery fighting at several points along the line in France according to communication given out by French war office today.

There has been furthermore a particularly violent artillery engagement in the department of the Meuse, and along the front in Lorraine.

Slaves Take 5,000. London, Sept. 11.—Another success on the southern Italian front resulting in the capture of 5,000 men is announced by the Russians. Even the Petrograd newspapers, however, admit that this section of the fighting area is not of the most vital importance since Field Marshal Von Mackensen is still hovering along the line.

Of minor forces which form the last remaining defenses in the way of complete control of the railway system desired by the invaders.

The Russian declares that the initiative in the isolated engagements on the southern wing is gradually passing into their hands. Nearer the center of the line, Von Mackensen is still pushing the Austro-Hungarian through the Priepet marshes toward Pinsk. North and south of his headquarters, strong offensive movements have been developed near Grodno and on the road to Rowno.

On the other front there is not as much action as in the east. So far as official reports indicate sharp fighting is in progress along the Austro-Hungarian battle line, but no fresh news has been received from the Vosges and Argonne, where the Germans have launched their attacks against the French trenches.

The only new feature of near eastern diplomatic puzzle is the assertion from Bulgarian sources that Sofia feels her ally Italy is a sufficient reward for Turkish concessions.

COLD WAVES SUNDAY LATEST PREDICTION

Southern States Enjoy Hot Weather While People in North Suffer From Early Frosts.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Washington, Sept. 11.—With snow falling in Helena, Montana, temperatures are near freezing in North Dakota, Montana and northeastern Wyoming. The heaviest September weather on record in Georgia, and heavy rains in great lakes region, the country's weather today presented a wide variety.

Warm weather promises to continue in the south but north of Virginia and east of Mississippi cooler weather will come tonight and Sunday.

MOTHER OF VIRGINIA'S GOVERNOR DIES AT AGE OF 84

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Franklin, Va., Sept. 11.—Mrs. L. Rebecca Gates, eighty-four, mother of Governor Charles W. Gates, died today, after a long illness.

Governor Gates is a member of the party of delegates to the Pan-American road congress, due to arrive at Oakland, Cal., tomorrow evening.

SEVEN MEN BELIEVED TO HAVE BEEN BURNED IN BARN AT MANITOBA

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Brandon, Manitoba, Sept. 11.—Seven men, harvesters from eastern Canada, whose names are unknown, are believed to have been burned to death last night in a barn in which they were sleeping near here.

Buy Now, But Buy Wisely

The more you buy now the better for the country's prosperity. Fill your wants if you can and join the "good cheer" procession. But buy wisely. Go to the store that serves best. Choose the goods suited to your desires. Inform yourself. Shop around by reading the advertising in The Gazette before you visit the store.

ON TWO FLOORS

We are showing the greatest shoe values Janesville has ever known.

Girls' Baby Dolls, in all leathers, sizes to 7, $1.75 and $1.95.

Young Women's Military styles, button and lace, concave heels, all leathers, an extra special value, $2.45.

Young Men's High School Shoes, in all leathers. Blue-ers, buttons and English styles, unusual values — you'll like them, $2.95.

Satisfaction guaranteed or your money back.

D.J. LUBY

HOWARD'S

Dry Goods. Milwaukee St.
"THE BEST FOR THE LEAST"

School Dresses at reduced prices
43c, 50c, 59c, 65c, 88c,
$1.50.

School Hosiery, Boys' and Girls' 15c, 18c, 22c, 25c.

Ladies' Hosiery, 10c to $1.
See our Fibre Silk Boot Hose, 25c and 39c.

ONE PRICE CASH STORE.

Saturday Specials at 22 S. River St.

Sweaters for the boy and girl, for school wear 50c to $3.

Boy's suits, in good durable weaves and a large assortment to pick from, $1.95 to $7.50.

School shoes, for boys and girls that wear the "wear comes and don't cost two prices."

See us before you buy.

J. H. Burns Co.
22 South River.

Wallets and Purses

Possibly that old wallet in which you carry your papers, money and letters is wearing out.

Let us show you a new one in any kind of leather you like.

We carry a large assortment of small leather pieces such as wallets, purses, hand bags, music rolls, brief cases, etc.

The Leather Store
Janesville Hide & Leather Co.
222 West Milwaukee St.

TO ERECT SAND LOADER LARGEST IN THE U. S. A.
CLOSE TO NEW ORLEANS

C. A. Bumgarner, 1315 Sharon street, left yesterday for New Orleans where he will superintend the erection of one of the largest sand loading buildings in the United States. The structure is of gigantic proportions and will take nearly a year to build.

POSTERETTES

Little African Republic Gives Big Order.

The Posterettes speaks a universal language. It is intelligible to the civilized and savage—the learned and ignorant. It does not require a college graduate to read a Posterette.
The simplest people read and appreciate its meaning.

The Posterettes put Chicago on the map as a summer resort. They did more than that. Some of them strayed away as far as the little black Republic of Liberia. The Government of Africa. The Government Officials immediately saw that there was something that was good. People in that part of the world could understand a Posterette just as well as the people in America. Liberia had a message to give the world. They realized that there was an ideal way of spreading the good news of their wealth and prosperity.

Where are these Posterettes made?
The officials wanted to know. They went Prof. Frederick Starr, of the Department of Anthropology of the University of Chicago. Mr. Starr gave them the desired information and the Government immediately placed a big order for Posterettes in twelve beautiful designs. How these little pictorial pieces of posterity travelling far and wide with a message from Liberia.

Every progressive community in the country is getting the Posterette idea. Chicago, Milwaukee, the Wisconsin State Fair, and several counties in Wisconsin are making use of them. Now Rock County is going to join the Posterette procession. Those who have travelled know that there is no fairer, richer spot on earth than our own Rock County. In agriculture and stock raising, in manufacture, and in railway facilities she is without a peer. Several leading business men who are well known for being in the advance guard, have placed their orders, and some beautiful designs in six colors are now in course of preparation. It is only a matter of a short time when Rock County Posterettes will be carrying a message of our wealth and prosperity to all corners of the world.

MALACHI C. FISH IS SUMMONED TO DEATH

Former Janesville Man Succumbs Friday night at His Home at Oklahoma City—Bring Remains to This City.

E. T. Fish has received word of the death of his brother, Malachi C. Fish, who passed away at seven-thirty o'clock Friday evening at his home in Oklahoma City, Okla., following an illness of several months, during which he had been confined to his bed. He had suffered with poor health for the last several years.

Malachi C. Fish was born at Venice, Cayuga county, New York, March 15, 1835. As a child he came with his parents to Janesville, which was his home for the major portion of his life. He learned the jewelry business under the firm of Webb & Hall, whose employ he left to take a position with the Rockford Watch company, at Rockford, Ill. Later he became a traveling salesman and stockholder in the jewelry firm of Kent, Stanley & Company of Providence, R. I., for a term of ten years, after which he was with the Wisconsin Carriage company of this city for three years. He went to Oklahoma about five years ago.

Mr. Fish was a member of the Janesville Council U. C. T. and of Masonic Lodge No. 55. He has many friends and acquaintances in this city who will hear of his death with sorrow.

Besides his widow he is survived by two brothers and two sisters, Charles and Eugene Fish and Phoebe Kellogg of this city and Mrs. T. D. Williams of Milwaukee.

The remains will arrive in Janesville at midnight Sunday night and will be taken to the home of E. T. Fish, 1315 Ravine street. Services will be held at two-thirty Monday afternoon.
The Masonic fraternity will have charge of the rites at the grave.

William H. Guild, formerly a resident of Janesville, passed away Friday morning at his home at Barrington, Ill. He was fifty-eight years of age. During his youth the deceased lived here. A sister, Mrs. Anna Dixon, resides here. The funeral will be held tomorrow.

RESIDED IN COUNTY FOR HALF A CENTURY

Mrs. Mary Elvina Pratt, Who Passed Away at Freeport, Lived Near Janesville Many Years.

Mrs. Mary Elvina Pratt, aged seventy-nine years, a resident of Rock county for over half a century, passed peacefully away yesterday afternoon at two o'clock at Freeport, Ill.
Mary Elvina Pratt was born May 9, 1836, in Shausago county, New York. She came to the west shortly after Wisconsin was made a state and on January 1, 1838, at East Troy, Wis.
She was united in marriage to Thomas Pratt, in 1858, the family came to Rock county and took up their residence on a farm two miles north of Janesville.

Mr. Pratt and two children preceded Mrs. Pratt in death. Of the family surviving are four daughters, Mrs. Lydia Bitters, at 436 North
Franklin street, where the funeral
will be held Monday afternoon at two o'clock at the Freeport, Ill. home of
Mrs. B. Tucker of Osgo, Ia., and Mrs. Joseph
Creek of Leyden and three sons,
Henry of this city, William of
Beloit and George of Freeport.

There are also fourteen grandchildren and seven great grandchildren
surviving.

Mrs. Pratt was a faithful member
of the Congregational church and a woman of sterling character. She had been sick but a week in her recent
illness.

Her remains will be brought to
Janesville to the home of her daughter, Mrs. Lydia Bitters, at 436 North
Franklin street, where the funeral
will be held Monday afternoon at two
o'clock at the Freeport, Ill. home of
Mrs. B. Tucker of Osgo, Ia., and Mrs. Joseph
Creek of Leyden and three sons,
Henry of this city, William of
Beloit and George of Freeport.

There are also fourteen grandchildren and seven great grandchildren
surviving.

Mrs. Pratt was a faithful member
of the Congregational church and a
woman of sterling character. She had been sick but a week in her recent
illness.

Her remains will be brought to
Janesville to the home of her daughter, Mrs. Lydia Bitters, at 436 North
Franklin street, where the funeral
will be held Monday afternoon at two
o'clock at the Freeport, Ill. home of
Mrs. B. Tucker of Osgo, Ia., and Mrs. Joseph
Creek of Leyden and three sons,
Henry of this city, William of
Beloit and George of Freeport.

There are also fourteen grandchildren and seven great grandchildren
surviving.

Mrs. Pratt was a faithful member
of the Congregational church and a
woman of sterling character. She had been sick but a week in her recent
illness.

Her remains will be brought to
Janesville to the home of her daughter, Mrs. Lydia Bitters, at 436 North
Franklin street, where the funeral
will be held Monday afternoon at two
o'clock at the Freeport, Ill. home of
Mrs. B. Tucker of Osgo, Ia., and Mrs. Joseph
Creek of Leyden and three sons,
Henry of this city, William of
Beloit and George of Freeport.

There are also fourteen grandchildren and seven great grandchildren
surviving.

Mrs. Pratt was a faithful member
of the Congregational church and a
woman of sterling character. She had been sick but a week in her recent
illness.

Her remains will be brought to
Janesville to the home of her daughter, Mrs. Lydia Bitters, at 436 North
Franklin street, where the funeral
will be held Monday afternoon at two
o'clock at the Freeport, Ill. home of
Mrs. B. Tucker of Osgo, Ia., and Mrs. Joseph
Creek of Leyden and three sons,
Henry of this city, William of
Beloit and George of Freeport.

There are also fourteen grandchildren and seven great grandchildren
surviving.

Mrs. Pratt was a faithful member
of the Congregational church and a
woman of sterling character. She had been sick but a week in her recent
illness.

Her remains will be brought to
Janesville to the home of her daughter, Mrs. Lydia Bitters, at 436 North
Franklin street, where the funeral
will be held Monday afternoon at two
o'clock at the Freeport, Ill. home of
Mrs. B. Tucker of Osgo, Ia., and Mrs. Joseph
Creek of Leyden and three sons,
Henry of this city, William of
Beloit and George of Freeport.

There are also fourteen grandchildren and seven great grandchildren
surviving.

Mrs. Pratt was a faithful member
of the Congregational church and a
woman of sterling character. She had been sick but a week in her recent
illness.

Her remains will be brought to
Janesville to the home of her daughter, Mrs. Lydia Bitters, at 436 North
Franklin street, where the funeral
will be held Monday afternoon at two
o'clock at the Freeport, Ill. home of
Mrs. B. Tucker of Osgo, Ia., and Mrs. Joseph
Creek of Leyden and three sons,
Henry of this city, William of
Beloit and George of Freeport.

There are also fourteen grandchildren and seven great grandchildren
surviving.

Mrs. Pratt was a faithful member
of the Congregational church and a
woman of sterling character. She had been sick but a week in her recent
illness.

Her remains will be brought to
Janesville to the home of her daughter, Mrs. Lydia Bitters, at 436 North
Franklin street, where the funeral
will be held Monday afternoon at two
o'clock at the Freeport, Ill. home of
Mrs. B. Tucker of Osgo, Ia., and Mrs. Joseph
Creek of Leyden and three sons,
Henry of this city, William of
Beloit and George of Freeport.

There are also fourteen grandchildren and seven great grandchildren
surviving.

Mrs. Pratt was a faithful member
of the Congregational church and a
woman of sterling character. She had been sick but a week in her recent
illness.

Her remains will be brought to
Janesville to the home of her daughter, Mrs. Lydia Bitters, at 436 North
Franklin street, where the funeral
will be held Monday afternoon at two
o'clock at the Freeport, Ill. home of
Mrs. B. Tucker of Osgo, Ia., and Mrs. Joseph
Creek of Leyden and three sons,
Henry of this city, William of
Beloit and George of Freeport.

There are also fourteen grandchildren and seven great grandchildren
surviving.

Mrs. Pratt was a faithful member
of the Congregational church and a
woman of sterling character. She had been sick but a week in her recent
illness.

Her remains will be brought to
Janesville to the home of her daughter, Mrs. Lydia Bitters, at 436 North
Franklin street, where the funeral
will be held Monday afternoon at two
o'clock at the Freeport, Ill. home of
Mrs. B. Tucker of Osgo, Ia., and Mrs. Joseph
Creek of Leyden and three sons,
Henry of this city, William of
Beloit and George of Freeport.

There are also fourteen grandchildren and seven great grandchildren
surviving.

Mrs. Pratt was a faithful member
of the Congregational church and a
woman of sterling character. She had been sick but a week in her recent
illness.

Her remains will be brought to
Janesville to the home of her daughter, Mrs. Lydia Bitters, at 436 North
Franklin street, where the funeral
will be held Monday afternoon at two
o'clock at the Freeport, Ill. home of
Mrs. B. Tucker of Osgo, Ia., and Mrs. Joseph
Creek of Leyden and three sons,
Henry of this city, William of
Beloit and George of Freeport.

There are also fourteen grandchildren and seven great grandchildren
surviving.

Mrs. Pratt was a faithful member
of the Congregational church and a
woman of sterling character. She had been sick but a week in her recent
illness.

Her remains will be brought to
Janesville to the home of her daughter, Mrs. Lydia Bitters, at 436 North
Franklin street, where the funeral
will be held Monday afternoon at two
o'clock at the Freeport, Ill. home of
Mrs. B. Tucker of Osgo, Ia., and Mrs. Joseph
Creek of Leyden and three sons,
Henry of this city, William of
Beloit and George of Freeport.

There are also fourteen grandchildren and seven great grandchildren
surviving.

Mrs. Pratt was a faithful member
of the Congregational church and a
woman of sterling character. She had been sick but a week in her recent
illness.

Her remains will be brought to
Janesville to the home of her daughter, Mrs. Lydia Bitters, at 436 North
Franklin street, where the funeral
will be held Monday afternoon at two
o'clock at the Freeport, Ill. home of
Mrs. B. Tucker of Osgo, Ia., and Mrs. Joseph
Creek of Leyden and three sons,
Henry of this city, William of
Beloit and George of Freeport.

There are also fourteen grandchildren and seven great grandchildren
surviving.

Mrs. Pratt was a faithful member
of the Congregational church and a
woman of sterling character. She had been sick but a week in her recent
illness.

Her remains will be brought to
Janesville to the home of her daughter, Mrs. Lydia Bitters, at 436 North
Franklin street, where the funeral
will be held Monday afternoon at two
o'clock at the Freeport, Ill. home of
Mrs. B. Tucker of Osgo, Ia., and Mrs. Joseph
Creek of Leyden and three sons,
Henry of this city, William of
Beloit and George of Freeport.

There are also fourteen grandchildren and seven great grandchildren
surviving.

Mrs. Pratt was a faithful member
of the Congregational church and a
woman of sterling character. She had been sick but a week in her recent
illness.

Her remains will be brought to
Janesville to the home of her daughter, Mrs. Lydia Bitters, at 436 North
Franklin street, where the funeral
will be held Monday afternoon at two
o'clock at the Freeport, Ill. home of
Mrs. B. Tucker of Osgo, Ia., and Mrs. Joseph
Creek of Leyden and three sons,
Henry of this city, William of
Beloit and George of Freeport.

There are also fourteen grandchildren and seven great grandchildren
surviving.

Mrs. Pratt was a faithful member
of the Congregational church and a
woman of sterling character. She had been sick but a week in her recent
illness.

Her remains will be brought to
Janesville to the home of her daughter, Mrs. Lydia Bitters, at 436 North
Franklin street, where the funeral
will be held Monday afternoon at two
o'clock at the Freeport, Ill. home of
Mrs. B. Tucker of Osgo, Ia., and Mrs. Joseph
Creek of Leyden and three sons,
Henry of this city, William of
Beloit and George of Freeport.

There are also fourteen grandchildren and seven great grandchildren
surviving.

Mrs. Pratt was a faithful member
of the Congregational church and a
woman of sterling character. She had been sick but a week in her recent
illness.

Her remains will be brought to
Janesville to the home of her daughter, Mrs. Lydia Bitters, at 436 North
Franklin street, where the funeral
will be held Monday afternoon at two
o'clock at the Freeport, Ill. home of
Mrs. B. Tucker of Osgo, Ia., and Mrs. Joseph
Creek of Leyden and three sons,
Henry of this city, William of
Beloit and George of Freeport.

There are also fourteen grandchildren and seven great grandchildren
surviving.

Mrs. Pratt was a faithful member
of the Congregational church and a
woman of sterling character. She had been sick but a week in her recent
illness.

Her remains will be brought to
Janesville to the home of her daughter, Mrs. Lydia Bitters, at 436 North
Franklin street, where the funeral
will be held Monday afternoon at two
o'clock at the Freeport, Ill. home of
Mrs. B. Tucker of Osgo, Ia., and Mrs. Joseph
Creek of Leyden and three sons,
Henry of this city, William of
Beloit and George of Freeport.

There are also fourteen grandchildren and seven great grandchildren
surviving.

Mrs. Pratt was a faithful member
of the Congregational church and a
woman of sterling character. She had been sick but a week in her recent
illness.

Her remains will be brought to
Janesville to the home of her daughter, Mrs. Lydia Bitters, at 436 North
Franklin street, where the funeral
will be held Monday afternoon at two
o'clock at the Freeport, Ill. home of
Mrs. B. Tucker of Osgo, Ia., and Mrs. Joseph
Creek of Leyden and three sons,
Henry of this city, William of
Beloit and George of Freeport.

There are also fourteen grandchildren and seven great grandchildren
surviving.

Mrs. Pratt was a faithful member
of the Congregational church and a
woman of sterling character. She had been sick but a week in her recent
illness.

Her remains will be brought to
Janesville to the home of her daughter, Mrs. Lydia Bitters, at 436 North
Franklin street, where the funeral
will be held Monday afternoon at two
o'clock at the Freeport, Ill. home of
Mrs. B. Tucker of Osgo, Ia., and Mrs. Joseph
Creek of Leyden and three sons,
Henry of this city, William of
Beloit and George of Freeport.

There are also fourteen grandchildren and seven great grandchildren
surviving.

Mrs. Pratt was a faithful member
of the Congregational church and a
woman of sterling character. She had been sick but a week in her recent
illness.

Her remains will be brought to
Janesville to the home of her daughter, Mrs. Lydia Bitters, at 436 North
Franklin street, where the funeral
will be held Monday afternoon at two
o'clock at the Freeport, Ill. home of
Mrs. B. Tucker of Osgo, Ia., and Mrs. Joseph
Creek of Leyden and three sons,
Henry of this city, William of
Beloit and George of Freeport.

There are also fourteen grandchildren and seven great grandchildren
surviving.

Mrs. Pratt was a faithful member
of the Congregational church and a
woman of sterling character. She had been sick but a week in her recent
illness.

Her remains will be brought to
Janesville to the home of her daughter, Mrs. Lydia Bitters, at 436 North
Franklin street, where the funeral
will be held Monday afternoon at two
o'clock at the Freeport, Ill. home of
Mrs. B. Tucker of Osgo, Ia., and Mrs. Joseph
Creek of Leyden and three sons,
Henry of this city, William of
Beloit and George of Freeport.

There are also fourteen grandchildren and seven great grandchildren
surviving.

Mrs. Pratt was a faithful member
of the Congregational church and a
woman of sterling character. She had been sick but a week in her recent
illness.

Her remains will be brought to
Janesville to the home of her daughter, Mrs. Lydia Bitters, at 436 North
Franklin street, where the funeral
will be held Monday afternoon at two
o'clock at the Freeport, Ill. home of
Mrs. B. Tucker of Osgo, Ia., and Mrs. Joseph
Creek of Leyden and three sons,
Henry of this city, William of
Beloit and George of Freeport.

There are also fourteen grandchildren and seven great grandchildren
surviving.

Mrs. Pratt was a faithful member
of the Congregational church and a
woman of sterling character. She had been sick but a week in her recent
illness.

Her remains will be brought to
Janesville to the home of her daughter, Mrs. Lydia Bitters, at 436 North
Franklin street, where the funeral
will be held Monday afternoon at two
o'clock at the Freeport, Ill. home of
Mrs. B. Tucker of Osgo, Ia., and Mrs. Joseph
Creek of Leyden and three sons,
Henry of this city, William of
Beloit and George of Freeport.

There are also fourteen grandchildren and seven great grandchildren
surviving.

Mrs. Pratt was a faithful member
of the Congregational church and a
woman of sterling character. She had been sick but a week in her recent
illness.

Her remains will be brought to
Janesville to the home of her daughter, Mrs. Lydia Bitters, at 436 North
Franklin street, where the funeral
will be held Monday afternoon at two
o'clock at the Freeport, Ill. home of
Mrs. B. Tucker of Osgo, Ia., and Mrs. Joseph
Creek of Leyden and three sons,
Henry of this city, William of
Beloit and George of Freeport.

There are also fourteen grandchildren and seven great grandchildren
surviving.

Mrs. Pratt was a faithful member
of the Congregational church and a
woman of sterling character. She had been sick but a week in her recent
illness.

Her remains will be brought to
Janesville to the home of her daughter, Mrs. Lydia Bitters, at 436 North
Franklin street, where the funeral
will be held Monday afternoon at two
o'clock at the Freeport, Ill. home of
Mrs. B. Tucker of Osgo, Ia., and Mrs. Joseph
Creek of Leyden and three sons,
Henry of this city, William of
Beloit and George of Freeport.

There are also fourteen grandchildren and seven great grandchildren
surviving.

Mrs. Pratt was a faithful member
of the Congregational church and a
woman of sterling character. She had been sick but a week in her recent
illness.

Her remains will be brought to
Janesville to the home of her daughter, Mrs. Lydia Bitters, at 436 North
Franklin street, where the funeral
will be held Monday afternoon at two
o'clock at the Freeport, Ill. home of
Mrs. B. Tucker of Osgo, Ia., and Mrs. Joseph
Creek of Leyden and three sons,
Henry of this city, William of
Beloit and George of Freeport.

There are also fourteen grandchildren and seven great grandchildren
surviving.

Mrs. Pratt was a faithful member
of the Congregational church and a
woman of sterling character. She had been sick but a week in her recent
illness.

Her remains will be brought to
Janesville to the home of her daughter, Mrs. Lydia Bitters, at 436 North
Franklin street, where the funeral
will be held Monday afternoon at two
o'clock at the Freeport, Ill. home of
Mrs. B. Tucker of Osgo, Ia., and Mrs. Joseph
Creek of Leyden and three sons,
Henry of this city, William of
Beloit and George of Freeport.

There are also fourteen grandchildren and seven great grandchildren
surviving.

Mrs. Pratt was a faithful member
of the Congregational church and a
woman of sterling character. She had been sick but a week in her recent
illness.

Her remains will be brought to
Janesville to the home of her daughter, Mrs. Lydia Bitters, at 436 North
Franklin street, where the funeral
will be held Monday afternoon at two
o'clock at the Freeport, Ill. home of
Mrs. B. Tucker of Osgo, Ia., and Mrs. Joseph
Creek of Leyden and three sons,
Henry of this city, William of
Beloit and George of Freeport.

There are also fourteen grandchildren and seven great grandchildren
surviving.

Mrs. Pratt was a faithful member
of the Congregational church and a
woman of sterling character. She had been sick but a week in her recent
illness.

Her remains will be brought to
Janesville to the home of her daughter, Mrs. Lydia Bitters, at 436 North
Franklin street, where the funeral
will be held Monday afternoon at two
o'clock at the Freeport, Ill. home of
Mrs. B. Tucker of Osgo, Ia., and Mrs. Joseph
Creek of Leyden and three sons,
Henry of this city, William of
Beloit and George of Freeport.

There are also fourteen grandchildren and seven great grandchildren
surviving.

Mrs. Pratt was a faithful member
of the Congregational church and a
woman of sterling character. She had been sick but a week in her recent
illness.

Her remains will be brought to
Janesville to the home of her daughter, Mrs. Lydia Bitters, at 436 North
Franklin street, where the funeral
will be held Monday afternoon at two
o'clock at the Freeport, Ill. home of
Mrs. B. Tucker of Osgo, Ia., and Mrs. Joseph
Creek of Leyden and three sons,
Henry of this city, William of
Beloit and George of Freeport.

There are also fourteen grandchildren and seven great grandchildren
surviving.

Mrs. Pratt was a faithful member
of the Congregational church and a
woman of sterling character. She had been sick but a week in her recent
illness.

Her remains will be brought to
Janesville to the home of her daughter, Mrs. Lydia Bitters, at 436 North
Franklin street, where the funeral
will be held Monday afternoon at two
o'clock at the Freeport, Ill. home of
Mrs. B. Tucker of Osgo, Ia., and Mrs. Joseph
Creek of Leyden and three sons,
Henry of this city, William of
Beloit and George of Freeport.

There are also fourteen grandchildren and seven great grandchildren
surviving.

Mrs. Pratt was a faithful member
of the Congregational church and a
woman of sterling character. She had been sick but a week in her recent
illness.

Her remains will be brought to
Janesville to the home of her daughter, Mrs. Lydia Bitters, at 436 North
Franklin street, where the funeral
will be held Monday afternoon at two
o'clock at the Freeport, Ill. home of
Mrs. B. Tucker of Osgo, Ia., and Mrs. Joseph
Creek of Leyden and three sons,
Henry of this city, William of
Beloit and George of Freeport.

There are also fourteen grandchildren and seven great grandchildren
surviving.

Mrs. Pratt was a faithful member
of the Congregational church and a
woman of sterling character. She had been sick but a week in her recent
illness.

Her remains will be brought to
Janesville to the home of her daughter, Mrs. Lydia Bitters, at 436 North
Franklin street, where the funeral
will be held Monday afternoon at two
o'clock at the Freeport, Ill. home of
Mrs. B. Tucker of Osgo, Ia., and Mrs. Joseph
Creek of Leyden and three sons,
Henry of this city, William of
Beloit and George of Freeport

PETEY DINK—GET THAT? HE'S GOING TO LAY UP HIS BIG CAR!

SPORTS

WITHOUT FAIRIES ARE "LOADED-UP" CARDS SEE A WIN

Fans Expect to See a Hurling Duel Between Bob Fucik and Sam Lafferty Here on Sunday.

Sunday the hostilities between the Cardinals and the Beloit Braves-Morse team will be resumed, weather permitting, at the diamond at the Association Park and today's indications point toward another of those hair-raising, thrilling, diamond combats as were the other four games, three of which reside in the Cardinals' victory column.

Beloit retains the same team as was in the two games played Sunday and Monday at Beloit, the Cardinals from all points of view should come off a winner. But fans up here have it lined up that the line-up will be considerably strengthened while that of the Cardinals does not look to be much stronger on paper. One new player, Bill, announced as Mike O'Day, an outfielder who has spent the summer in the Central league, clouting over 300 and with a record of 55 stolen bases. He will probably replace O'Brien, the fast fielder, but was hit in center field, thus increasing O'Brien's strength—and that's what counts. Keene, the second sacker for the Braves, has not shown any of the power he showed in his first game, nor has Lafferty, their first baseman, or Cavanaugh at third, for that matter. Neither of them showed any marked ability with the bat against the Cardinals pitchers. Sam Lafferty will probably draw the pitching assignment against the Cardinals and the Jansville men are out to beat him again, to make the Braves "like it."

The Jansville fans rest their hopes in the Bob Fucik in the pitching department for in three starts Fucik has lost the first through hard luck and the second through lack of control. In the three games he has allowed Beloit just fourteen hits, four runs, and Fucik in the three combats struck out 25 batters. In all three games Beloit scored for four runs off the "zins" box, and the Cardinals have made eight. Against Lafferty, Fucik will have hard sledding, for the old ball expert is a curve wizard at night and he is certain to be right Sunday to obtain revenge.

For first base the Cardinals will have the scrappy little Eddie Lenahan and he is well known here. Lenahan is a low player, but he has all the power and will strengthen the Cardinals a material amount. In past years Eddie has been somewhat weak with the stick and it is to be hoped he has overcome this. The Cardinals need sticks to win on Sunday. At second, "Benny" Baker, the star of the Cardinals infield, will play with Rayland and O'Brien, and the Cardinals need bats here and to say the least, he could not be much worse than Johnson, who played in the Beloit series. Jack Korman will be at third and without doubt, he is the best fielder in the league. This inner defense looks far better than the Braves. In the outfield, Davis will be in center, and the Beloit since donning the Cardinal uniform, regular, has been hitting over form. Lampert, a good stickler and fast man on the bases, with Nelson, the sensational fielder, will be placed.

Chicago men, umpire, and game. Over a thousand are expected to attend from Beloit, and if good weather prevails there should be around four thousand at the game, because of the interest taken in the series. The challenge to the Jansville men for another series, and offer to put up a hundred dollar side bet on the results. The extra series may be scheduled if the Cardinals win Sunday's game, which is doubtful.

PROSPECTS GOOD FOR SPEEDY HIGH ELEVEN

Material Looks Good On Paper.—Capt. Mooney, Cronin, Richards and McCulloch Form Nucleus.

The past annual prediction that the Jansville high school has championship football material applied to have no weight at the institution this year, although the students and Coach Dutcher are hopeful of a speedy team, weighing in the neighborhood of 150 pounds.

Championship days at the high school look to be about over, and from now on students will have to be content with supporting teams of mediocre strength. The material for this year looks good on paper, with four veterans with ability forming the nucleus for a team. These men are Capt. Mooney, end; Richards, end; Cronin, halfback, and McCulloch, a guard.

Cronin is a dashing back with plenty of speed and a strong defensive man. His work last year, especially against Beloit, was remarkable, and at his old position students look for him to repeat past performances. Mooney and Richards are light but fast ends. Both have acquired the art of stopping plays by breaking into the defense. Qualifications may keep Richards out, the other veterans being well up in their work. McCulloch has plenty of weight but lacks aggressiveness. A little more coaching and he will be a valuable man in the line.

As to the other material, Falter and S. Ryan look like promising back field men, as does Lee. Spohn and Richards are candidates for quarter. Many others with less experience will fight for the seven vacant positions on the team and students are of the belief that Coach Dutcher, with his experience, will be able to turn out a creditable eleven.

YESTERDAY'S RESULTS.

American League.
Boston 2, Philadelphia 2.
Cleveland 3, Detroit 2.
St. Louis 3, New York 1.
No other games scheduled.
National League.
Pittsburgh 3, Boston 1.
Philadelphia 7, New York 3.
Cincinnati 7, St. Louis 1.
No other games scheduled.
Federal League.
St. Louis 3, New York 1.
Buffalo 3, Kansas City 1.
Brooklyn 2, Pittsburgh 0.
No other games scheduled.

STANDING OF THE TEAMS.

American League.
Boston	36	43
Detroit	36	43
Chicago	36	43
Washington	36	43
New York	36	43
St. Louis	36	43
Cleveland	36	43
Philadelphia	36	43

National League.
Philadelphia	72	56
Brooklyn	72	56
Boston	69	61
St. Louis	69	61
Chicago	61	68
Pittsburgh	64	71
Cincinnati	61	69
New York	60	69

Federal League.
Pittsburgh	75	57
St. Louis	71	59
Chicago	70	62
Newark	67	61
Kansas City	68	63
Buffalo	68	63
Brooklyn	68	63
Baltimore	43	55

American Association.
Minneapolis	56	57
St. Paul	56	57
Louisville	58	58
Indianapolis	58	58
Kansas City	58	58
Cleveland	58	58
Milwaukee	58	58
Columbus	58	58

GAMES TODAY.

American League.
Chicago at Boston.
Cleveland at Philadelphia.
Detroit at New York.
Cleveland at Washington.
National League.
Boston at Chicago.
Brooklyn at St. Louis.
New York at Cincinnati.
Philadelphia at Pittsburgh.
Federal League.
Pittsburgh at Chicago.
Baltimore at New York.
Newark at St. Louis.
Buffalo at Kansas City.

W. E. LAWYER WINS PRIZE AT TOURNEY

Wins Mackinaw Coat for High Gun in Trap Tournament Held for Local Shooters.

Yesterday afternoon the trap tournament among the local shooters for three prizes closed, W. E. Lawyer winning high score, William Pond second and Charles Snyder third. For the last three weeks the Jansville Gun club has held a shoot on Friday afternoon and each contestant shot at sixty birds each day. The score made by Lawyer was 164 out of 180. Pond and Snyder won loving cups. All the prizes were put up by business men interested in the success of trap shooting. The scores showing the number of targets broke and the number shot at were as follows: W. E. Lawyer broke 164, shot at 180; William Pond, 161, shot at 180; Charles Snyder, 157, shot at 180; John E. Miller, 156, shot at 180; L. L. Nickerson, 105, shot at 180; H. W. McNamara, 105, shot at 180.

LADIES' GOLF PLAY IS HALTED BY RAIN

Jansville Golfers Halted by Down-pour in Game With Beloit.—Enjoyed Visit Nevertheless.

About eighteen ladies of the Jansville Golf club were the guests yesterday of the ladies of the Beloit Country club. The heavy rain of the morning interrupted the match play and there were no scores. At noon a sumptuous luncheon was served by the Line City hostesses. The afternoon was spent at bridge. Mrs. George S. Parker of this city being awarded first honors.

At home last evening reporting a very enjoyable visit.

Contest for a cut steel golf bag put up by Mrs. Frank Blodgett was won by Mrs. Alice Sale during the past week on the local course. J. P. Baker donated a golf ball in a runner up contest. This was won by Miss Kathryn Jeffers.

OPINION DIVIDED OVER THE RESULT OF NEW YORK BOUT

Boxing World Awaits Ten Round Fortune Battle at Brighton Motor-dome Tonight.—McFarland in Better Condition.

Eyes of the sporting world today are on Brighton motor-dome, New York.

refused to allow Referee Billy Joh to give a decision and as a result, the fans will have to rely on paper decisions which are very unsatisfactory in most cases, due to difference of opinion. The general opinion is that the bout will be a draw and it is conceded that the chance for a knock-out is slim for either boxer, although both carry punch enough to land one. The statement that both are nothing but clever, scientific boxers is wrong, for while they rely on their speed and boxing ability instead of fighting to win, they both can land knock-out wallop.

As one Jansville boxing follower summed it up this morning in a fan-

gled to allow Referee Billy Joh to give a decision and as a result, the fans will have to rely on paper decisions which are very unsatisfactory in most cases, due to difference of opinion. The general opinion is that the bout will be a draw and it is conceded that the chance for a knock-out is slim for either boxer, although both carry punch enough to land one. The statement that both are nothing but clever, scientific boxers is wrong, for while they rely on their speed and boxing ability instead of fighting to win, they both can land knock-out wallop.

As one Jansville boxing follower summed it up this morning in a fan-

gled to allow Referee Billy Joh to give a decision and as a result, the fans will have to rely on paper decisions which are very unsatisfactory in most cases, due to difference of opinion. The general opinion is that the bout will be a draw and it is conceded that the chance for a knock-out is slim for either boxer, although both carry punch enough to land one. The statement that both are nothing but clever, scientific boxers is wrong, for while they rely on their speed and boxing ability instead of fighting to win, they both can land knock-out wallop.

As one Jansville boxing follower summed it up this morning in a fan-

gled to allow Referee Billy Joh to give a decision and as a result, the fans will have to rely on paper decisions which are very unsatisfactory in most cases, due to difference of opinion. The general opinion is that the bout will be a draw and it is conceded that the chance for a knock-out is slim for either boxer, although both carry punch enough to land one. The statement that both are nothing but clever, scientific boxers is wrong, for while they rely on their speed and boxing ability instead of fighting to win, they both can land knock-out wallop.

As one Jansville boxing follower summed it up this morning in a fan-

gled to allow Referee Billy Joh to give a decision and as a result, the fans will have to rely on paper decisions which are very unsatisfactory in most cases, due to difference of opinion. The general opinion is that the bout will be a draw and it is conceded that the chance for a knock-out is slim for either boxer, although both carry punch enough to land one. The statement that both are nothing but clever, scientific boxers is wrong, for while they rely on their speed and boxing ability instead of fighting to win, they both can land knock-out wallop.

As one Jansville boxing follower summed it up this morning in a fan-

gled to allow Referee Billy Joh to give a decision and as a result, the fans will have to rely on paper decisions which are very unsatisfactory in most cases, due to difference of opinion. The general opinion is that the bout will be a draw and it is conceded that the chance for a knock-out is slim for either boxer, although both carry punch enough to land one. The statement that both are nothing but clever, scientific boxers is wrong, for while they rely on their speed and boxing ability instead of fighting to win, they both can land knock-out wallop.

As one Jansville boxing follower summed it up this morning in a fan-

gled to allow Referee Billy Joh to give a decision and as a result, the fans will have to rely on paper decisions which are very unsatisfactory in most cases, due to difference of opinion. The general opinion is that the bout will be a draw and it is conceded that the chance for a knock-out is slim for either boxer, although both carry punch enough to land one. The statement that both are nothing but clever, scientific boxers is wrong, for while they rely on their speed and boxing ability instead of fighting to win, they both can land knock-out wallop.

As one Jansville boxing follower summed it up this morning in a fan-

gled to allow Referee Billy Joh to give a decision and as a result, the fans will have to rely on paper decisions which are very unsatisfactory in most cases, due to difference of opinion. The general opinion is that the bout will be a draw and it is conceded that the chance for a knock-out is slim for either boxer, although both carry punch enough to land one. The statement that both are nothing but clever, scientific boxers is wrong, for while they rely on their speed and boxing ability instead of fighting to win, they both can land knock-out wallop.

As one Jansville boxing follower summed it up this morning in a fan-

gled to allow Referee Billy Joh to give a decision and as a result, the fans will have to rely on paper decisions which are very unsatisfactory in most cases, due to difference of opinion. The general opinion is that the bout will be a draw and it is conceded that the chance for a knock-out is slim for either boxer, although both carry punch enough to land one. The statement that both are nothing but clever, scientific boxers is wrong, for while they rely on their speed and boxing ability instead of fighting to win, they both can land knock-out wallop.

As one Jansville boxing follower summed it up this morning in a fan-

gled to allow Referee Billy Joh to give a decision and as a result, the fans will have to rely on paper decisions which are very unsatisfactory in most cases, due to difference of opinion. The general opinion is that the bout will be a draw and it is conceded that the chance for a knock-out is slim for either boxer, although both carry punch enough to land one. The statement that both are nothing but clever, scientific boxers is wrong, for while they rely on their speed and boxing ability instead of fighting to win, they both can land knock-out wallop.

As one Jansville boxing follower summed it up this morning in a fan-

gled to allow Referee Billy Joh to give a decision and as a result, the fans will have to rely on paper decisions which are very unsatisfactory in most cases, due to difference of opinion. The general opinion is that the bout will be a draw and it is conceded that the chance for a knock-out is slim for either boxer, although both carry punch enough to land one. The statement that both are nothing but clever, scientific boxers is wrong, for while they rely on their speed and boxing ability instead of fighting to win, they both can land knock-out wallop.

As one Jansville boxing follower summed it up this morning in a fan-

gled to allow Referee Billy Joh to give a decision and as a result, the fans will have to rely on paper decisions which are very unsatisfactory in most cases, due to difference of opinion. The general opinion is that the bout will be a draw and it is conceded that the chance for a knock-out is slim for either boxer, although both carry punch enough to land one. The statement that both are nothing but clever, scientific boxers is wrong, for while they rely on their speed and boxing ability instead of fighting to win, they both can land knock-out wallop.

As one Jansville boxing follower summed it up this morning in a fan-

gled to allow Referee Billy Joh to give a decision and as a result, the fans will have to rely on paper decisions which are very unsatisfactory in most cases, due to difference of opinion. The general opinion is that the bout will be a draw and it is conceded that the chance for a knock-out is slim for either boxer, although both carry punch enough to land one. The statement that both are nothing but clever, scientific boxers is wrong, for while they rely on their speed and boxing ability instead of fighting to win, they both can land knock-out wallop.

As one Jansville boxing follower summed it up this morning in a fan-

gled to allow Referee Billy Joh to give a decision and as a result, the fans will have to rely on paper decisions which are very unsatisfactory in most cases, due to difference of opinion. The general opinion is that the bout will be a draw and it is conceded that the chance for a knock-out is slim for either boxer, although both carry punch enough to land one. The statement that both are nothing but clever, scientific boxers is wrong, for while they rely on their speed and boxing ability instead of fighting to win, they both can land knock-out wallop.

As one Jansville boxing follower summed it up this morning in a fan-

gled to allow Referee Billy Joh to give a decision and as a result, the fans will have to rely on paper decisions which are very unsatisfactory in most cases, due to difference of opinion. The general opinion is that the bout will be a draw and it is conceded that the chance for a knock-out is slim for either boxer, although both carry punch enough to land one. The statement that both are nothing but clever, scientific boxers is wrong, for while they rely on their speed and boxing ability instead of fighting to win, they both can land knock-out wallop.

As one Jansville boxing follower summed it up this morning in a fan-

gled to allow Referee Billy Joh to give a decision and as a result, the fans will have to rely on paper decisions which are very unsatisfactory in most cases, due to difference of opinion. The general opinion is that the bout will be a draw and it is conceded that the chance for a knock-out is slim for either boxer, although both carry punch enough to land one. The statement that both are nothing but clever, scientific boxers is wrong, for while they rely on their speed and boxing ability instead of fighting to win, they both can land knock-out wallop.

As one Jansville boxing follower summed it up this morning in a fan-

gled to allow Referee Billy Joh to give a decision and as a result, the fans will have to rely on paper decisions which are very unsatisfactory in most cases, due to difference of opinion. The general opinion is that the bout will be a draw and it is conceded that the chance for a knock-out is slim for either boxer, although both carry punch enough to land one. The statement that both are nothing but clever, scientific boxers is wrong, for while they rely on their speed and boxing ability instead of fighting to win, they both can land knock-out wallop.

As one Jansville boxing follower summed it up this morning in a fan-

gled to allow Referee Billy Joh to give a decision and as a result, the fans will have to rely on paper decisions which are very unsatisfactory in most cases, due to difference of opinion. The general opinion is that the bout will be a draw and it is conceded that the chance for a knock-out is slim for either boxer, although both carry punch enough to land one. The statement that both are nothing but clever, scientific boxers is wrong, for while they rely on their speed and boxing ability instead of fighting to win, they both can land knock-out wallop.

As one Jansville boxing follower summed it up this morning in a fan-

gled to allow Referee Billy Joh to give a decision and as a result, the fans will have to rely on paper decisions which are very unsatisfactory in most cases, due to difference of opinion. The general opinion is that the bout will be a draw and it is conceded that the chance for a knock-out is slim for either boxer, although both carry punch enough to land one. The statement that both are nothing but clever, scientific boxers is wrong, for while they rely on their speed and boxing ability instead of fighting to win, they both can land knock-out wallop.

As one Jansville boxing follower summed it up this morning in a fan-

gled to allow Referee Billy Joh to give a decision and as a result, the fans will have to rely on paper decisions which are very unsatisfactory in most cases, due to difference of opinion. The general opinion is that the bout will be a draw and it is conceded that the chance for a knock-out is slim for either boxer, although both carry punch enough to land one. The statement that both are nothing but clever, scientific boxers is wrong, for while they rely on their speed and boxing ability instead of fighting to win, they both can land knock-out wallop.

As one Jansville boxing follower summed it up this morning in a fan-

gled to allow Referee Billy Joh to give a decision and as a result, the fans will have to rely on paper decisions which are very unsatisfactory in most cases, due to difference of opinion. The general opinion is that the bout will be a draw and it is conceded that the chance for a knock-out is slim for either boxer, although both carry punch enough to land one. The statement that both are nothing but clever, scientific boxers is wrong, for while they rely on their speed and boxing ability instead of fighting to win, they both can land knock-out wallop.

As one Jansville boxing follower summed it up this morning in a fan-

gled to allow Referee Billy Joh to give a decision and as a result, the fans will have to rely on paper decisions which are very unsatisfactory in most cases, due to difference of opinion. The general opinion is that the bout will be a draw and it is conceded that the chance for a knock-out is slim for either boxer, although both carry punch enough to land one. The statement that both are nothing but clever, scientific boxers is wrong, for while they rely on their speed and boxing ability instead of fighting to win, they both can land knock-out wallop.

As one Jansville boxing follower summed it up this morning in a fan-

gled to allow Referee Billy Joh to give a decision and as a result, the fans will have to rely on paper decisions which are very unsatisfactory in most cases, due to difference of opinion. The general opinion is that the bout will be a draw and it is conceded that the chance for a knock-out is slim for either boxer, although both carry punch enough to land one. The statement that both are nothing but clever, scientific boxers is wrong, for while they rely on their speed and boxing ability instead of fighting to win, they both can land knock-out wallop.

As one Jansville boxing follower summed it up this morning in a fan-

gled to allow Referee Billy Joh to give a decision and as a result, the fans will have to rely on paper decisions which are very unsatisfactory in most cases, due to difference of opinion. The general opinion is that the bout will be a draw and it is conceded that the chance for a knock-out is slim for either boxer, although both carry punch enough to land one. The statement that both are nothing but clever, scientific boxers is wrong, for while they rely on their speed and boxing ability instead of fighting to win, they both can land knock-out wallop.

As one Jansville boxing follower summed it up this morning in a fan-

gled to allow Referee Billy Joh to give a decision and as a result, the fans will have to rely on paper decisions which are very unsatisfactory in most cases, due to difference of opinion. The general opinion is that the bout will be a draw and it is conceded that the chance for a knock-out is slim for either boxer, although both carry punch enough to land one. The statement that both are nothing but clever, scientific boxers is wrong, for while they rely on their speed and boxing ability instead of fighting to win, they both can land knock-out wallop.

As one Jansville boxing follower summed it up this morning in a fan-

gled to allow Referee Billy Joh to give a decision and as a result, the fans will have to rely on paper decisions which are very unsatisfactory in most cases, due to difference of opinion. The general opinion is that the bout will be a draw and it is conceded that the chance for a knock-out is slim for either boxer, although both carry punch enough to land one. The statement that both are nothing but clever, scientific boxers is wrong, for while they rely on their speed and boxing ability instead of fighting to win, they both can land knock-out wallop.

As one Jansville boxing follower summed it up this morning in a fan-

gled to allow Referee Billy Joh to give a decision and as a result, the fans will have to rely on paper decisions which are very unsatisfactory in most cases, due to difference of opinion. The general opinion is that the bout will be a draw and it is conceded that the chance for a knock-out is slim for either boxer, although both carry punch enough to land one. The statement that both are nothing but clever, scientific boxers is wrong, for while they rely on their speed and boxing ability instead of fighting to win, they both can land knock-out wallop.

As one Jansville boxing follower summed it up this morning in a fan-

gled to allow Referee Billy Joh to give a decision and as a result, the fans will have to rely on paper decisions which are very unsatisfactory in most cases, due to difference of opinion. The general opinion is that the bout will be a draw and it is conceded that the chance for a knock-out is slim for either boxer, although both carry punch enough to land one. The statement that both are nothing but clever, scientific boxers is wrong, for while they rely on their speed and boxing ability instead of fighting to win, they both can land knock-out wallop.

As one Jansville boxing follower summed it up this morning in a fan-

gled to allow Referee Billy Joh to give a decision and as a result, the fans will have to rely on paper decisions which are very unsatisfactory in most cases, due to difference of opinion. The general opinion is that the bout will be a draw and it is conceded that the chance for a knock-out is slim for either boxer, although both carry punch enough to land one. The statement that both are nothing but clever, scientific boxers is wrong, for while they rely on their speed and boxing ability instead of fighting to win, they both can land knock-out wallop.

As one Jansville boxing follower summed it up this morning in a fan-

gled to allow Referee Billy Joh to give a decision and as a result, the fans will have to rely on paper decisions which are very unsatisfactory in most cases, due to difference of opinion. The general opinion is that the bout will be a draw and it is conceded that the chance for a knock-out is slim for either boxer, although both carry punch enough to land one. The statement that both are nothing but clever, scientific boxers is wrong, for while they rely on their speed and boxing ability instead of fighting to win, they both can land knock-out wallop.

As one Jansville boxing follower summed it up this morning in a fan-

gled to allow Referee Billy Joh to give a decision and as a result, the fans will have to rely on paper decisions which are very unsatisfactory in most cases, due to difference of opinion. The general opinion is that the bout will be a draw and it is conceded that the chance for a knock-out is slim for either boxer, although both carry punch enough to land one. The statement that both are nothing but clever, scientific boxers is wrong, for while they rely on their speed and boxing ability instead of fighting to win, they both can land knock-out wallop.

As one Jansville boxing follower summed it up this morning in a fan-

gled to allow Referee Billy Joh to give a decision and as a result, the fans will have to rely on paper decisions which are very unsatisfactory in most cases, due to difference of opinion. The general opinion is that the bout will be a draw and it is conceded that the chance for a knock-out is slim for either boxer, although both carry punch enough to land one. The statement that both are nothing but clever, scientific boxers is wrong, for while they rely on their speed and boxing ability instead of fighting to win, they both can land knock-out wallop.

As one Jansville boxing follower summed it up this morning in a fan-

gled to allow Referee Billy Joh to give a decision and as a result, the fans will have to rely on paper decisions which are very unsatisfactory in most cases, due to difference of opinion. The general opinion is that the bout will be a draw and it is conceded that the chance for a knock-out is slim for either boxer, although both carry punch enough to land one. The statement that both are nothing but clever, scientific boxers is wrong, for while they rely on their speed and boxing ability instead of fighting to win, they both can land knock-out wallop.

As one Jansville boxing follower summed it up this morning in a fan-

gled to allow Referee Billy Joh to give a decision and as a result, the fans will have to rely on paper decisions which are very unsatisfactory in most cases, due to difference of opinion. The general opinion is that the bout will be a draw and it is conceded that the chance for a knock-out is slim for either boxer, although both carry punch enough to land one. The statement that both are nothing but clever, scientific boxers is wrong, for while they rely on their speed and boxing ability instead of fighting to win, they both can land knock-out wallop.

As one Jansville boxing follower summed it up this morning in a fan-

gled to allow Referee Billy Joh to give a decision and as a result, the fans will have to rely on paper decisions which are very unsatisfactory in most cases, due to difference of opinion. The general opinion is that the bout will be a draw and it is conceded that the chance for a knock-out is slim for either boxer, although both carry punch enough to land one. The statement that both are nothing but clever, scientific boxers is wrong, for while they rely on their speed and boxing ability instead of fighting to win, they both can land knock-out wallop.

As one Jansville boxing follower summed it up this morning in a fan-

gled to allow Referee Billy Joh to give a decision and as a result, the fans will have to rely on paper decisions which are very unsatisfactory in most cases, due to difference of opinion. The general

The Janesville Gazette

New Bldg. 200-201 E. Milwaukee St.

ENTERED AT THE POSTOFFICE AT JANESVILLE, WIS., AS SECOND CLASS MAIL MATTER.

BUSINESS OFFICE OPEN SATURDAY EVENING.

Members of Associated Press.
Member of Wisconsin Daily League.

BY CARRIER
One Year $5.00
Six Months $2.50
Three Months $1.25
By Mail Cash in Advance
One Year $4.00
Six Months $2.00
Three Months $1.00
RETAIL DELIVERY IN ROCK COUNTY
Our Year $3.00

NOTICE TO SUBSCRIBERS.
In sending change of address for your paper be sure to give the present address as well as the new one. This will insure better and quicker service.

The publication of Obituary Notices, Resolutions, and other notices, is made at 15c per column for a 6 word card. Church and lodge announcements are inserted free of charge. An event for which a charge is to be made. These and subsequent insertions of any notice are made at the price.

The Gazette does not knowingly accept false or fraudulent advertising or other advertising of an objectionable nature. It is the policy of the Gazette to print with full confidence in the character and reliability of the advertiser. The truth of the representations made. Readers of the Gazette will confer a favor if they will promptly report any advertiser who is guilty of an advertisement to make good any representation contained in a Gazette advertisement.

WEATHER FORECAST.

Partly cloudy and a drizzle Sunday. Light south wind; cooler in southern portion tonight.

OUR SATURDAY NIGHT.

She sits by the window reading. In the last red glow of the day. When the sun, like some monarch's ruby, is vanishing swift away. And her hands, that are worn with working. Rest light on the printed page. While her mind forgets want and sorrow. And tolling and care and age.

She sits by the window reading. And the day that is almost done. Lights her face with a golden glow. Sent down by the dying sun. And her heart, that is tired, maybe. And weary and worn with pain. Responds to some writer's message. Like a plant to the fragrant rain.

—Margaret E. Sangster, Jr., in the Christian Herald.

This choice sentiment is dedicated to the mother who is living on borrowed time, and the book in which she finds comfort is the old family bible, whose pages have long been familiar.

Just why so many mothers are left to complete the journey of life alone has always been a matter of speculation. The companion of a life time, on whom she depended for support and close companionship, usually drops out of the race before his time, and she lingers by the wayside a lonely and weary pilgrim.

These lonely mothers in their widowhood attract but little attention. They are in the world but not of it, however, active their life may have been, and they look forward to the final summons as a glad release from dependence and loneliness.

The home which may be provided by the son or daughter, perhaps cheerfully or perhaps grudgingly, is so unlike the home of other days that it seldom seems very much like home, and grandmothers corner, with the old bible for a companion, represents the monotony of every day life.

The woman who lives out, beyond her generation, and comes down to the last state of the journey, deprived of the companion who has journeyed with her, is more lonely than any other class of travelers, because the activities of life, which she so much enjoyed, are beyond her grasp, and she is not slow to discover that her suggestion and help are not wanted.

There was a time when her word was law, but now the old home where she presided, and where law commanded respect and obedience. It is difficult for her to realize why the grandchildren are different.

Back in the old days she was active in the church and a cog in the wheel of the social circle where her lot was cast, but today she is a spectator at long range and usually a critic because of the changes which time has wrought.

The weaving process, which absorbs a new generation and makes a place for it, as the little army advances, does not apply to an expiring generation, and so the remnants drop out one by one, unheeded and unnoticed, for while the time limit placed upon human life is not arbitrary, the three score years and ten, cover the long life so completely that possibilities are exhausted and destiny determined before the limit expires.

These old mothers, whose work is done, are living in the shadow period, waiting with more or less patience for the dawn of a brighter tomorrow where hope is last in fruition, and where faith paints the picture of reunion with the loved and last of other years.

The good Lord, who planned the journey of life, saw the end from the beginning, and so the heart of woman was fast in the fiercest mold. The touch of finer sensibilities, of more sublime faith, of hope like an anchor, and of confidence not readily shaken, are touches of the divine. And so the heart of woman has always been recognized as the God-like medium.

That is why the love of a mother is said to be like the love of God, and it is also why the old mothers, who linger in loneliness, near the end of the journey, are so well equipped for the strain. It requires great fortitude to sit with folded hands and wait.

It is said that every age has its compensations, and this is just as true of old age, as of every other period. What we get out of it depends very largely upon our attitude toward it.

The stage of life is an active stage and every man and woman is an actor, whether they will or no. It is occupied by people of all ages, from the army of young aspirants struggling for a foothold, to the larger army of actors in the midst of the fray.

A fragment of this army, which has endured the strain for half a century, is constantly passing off the stage to become spectators and watch the play as it progresses. Their places are filled by players in the full vigor of man and womanhood, and their presence is often needed to meet the demands which are constantly increasing.

It is sometimes difficult for people who have retired from active service to look on complacently. The old way of doing things seems to them the best way, and the old land marks are considered sacred.

The progress of the age is due to the tide of new blood which is constantly flowing into it, and it is possible, without much effort, for remnants of the old generation to become barnacles.

When we retire, either because of feebleness, or lack of inclination to be no longer active, it is much easier to develop a spirit of criticism than a spirit of loyalty and helpfulness.

It is fortunate for the progress of the world that the span of life has been shortened since the days of Methuselah, otherwise we might still be navigating with the ox team and prairie schooner. New blood was never more in demand than it is today and the strain of life was never so heavy.

It is the sons and grandsons of the old mother who sit in the corner, waiting through the shadow period, that are doing the work and she has occasion to rejoice that she was permitted to contribute to the active army.

The daughter, with whom she finds home, waiting to depart on the long journey, may not seem like the same girl who contribute so much to her care and happiness, in the old home, and her family discipline may be a constant annoyance, but conditions have changed while the old lady has stood still, and she has been passed in the race without knowing it.

These relics of the past are entitled to the most thoughtful care and consideration. They represent an era of sacrifice and preparation to which the present generation is a stranger. Their old fashioned notions include old fashioned honesty, and the foundation, of which they are a part, has made the nation a bulwark of strength. Take good care of the old mother, whose heart is still young, however, which she may be burdened by the weight of years.

Life is a constantly changing panorama. The players come and go with monotonous regularity, but there will always be found the fragments of a generation waiting to pass on to the land beyond the tide. Their last days should be their best days and it is to us who control their destinies, to make them peaceful and happy.

SNAP SHOTS

No crook is clever enough to permanently elude the wholly commonplace forces arrayed against him.

There is no doubt the Prodigal Son was hungry. He ate heartily of veal.

Next to a holiday, Sunday is the longest day of the year.

The trouble with the man who quits drinking is that he always believes the matter of sufficient interest to the public to justify him in giving a parade.

There are various ways in which trouble may be avoided. One of them is to sell your bull dog.

It is not surprising that young men go in for football. A man may achieve prominence in football without having it said of him that his wife "made" him.

It isn't particularly to his credit that, after working all of his life for money, he needs to be pensioned in his old age.

While the men speak in very complimentary terms of the modest virtues of the woman who is in love with the flaming holybocks.

Do not allow yourself to become excited over the extravagant expenditures of the New Yorkers. It is their money.

No crusade against tipping carries far. The average man doesn't care for money, but he wants the waiter to think well of him.

The Daily Novelette

A Fierce Predicament. Observe the girl.

Two hundred spent. In two short weeks.

John Henry Slithery, four minutes and twenty-two seconds after the alarm clock had gone off, sat on the edge of the bed (for he was a very tall man and could sit anywhere) and looked at the clock. He came to his eyes and the end of his nose.

"Why laughest thou, John?" came from the bed, the voice of Mrs. Slithery, who always spoke in pure old Puritan, because she had a dog whose ancestors came over in the Mayflower.

"We expect to catch the 7:45 for home, don't we?" gurgled Slithery.

"Well, yes," replied his wife. "We're going to stay here in definitely. When you got up at 5 o'clock to pack the trunk for the expressman, you put in—ho, ha, ha—you put in your trousers and your shoes."

And as John Henry couldn't possibly go home without his trousers, he was still in their room at Seastinger, on the north coast, where the winters, however, are said to be very mild.

Kernels of The Law

Running Automobile or Motorcycle Without Consent of Owner.

The state law provides that any person who shall operate any automobile, motor cycle, or other motor vehicle upon any highway without the consent of the owner shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $50 or by imprisonment not exceeding thirty days, or both such fine and imprisonment at the discretion of the court.

OF INTEREST TO SUMMER VACATIONISTS IS THE LARGE SUPPLY of booklets regarding Lakes and Resorts of the Northwest, Short Jaunts for Busy People, Summer Resorts in Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota and Ontario.

On the Spur of the Moment

ROY K. MOULTON

I remember, I remember. The town hall where I spoke When I was graduated From education's yoke.

I remember, I remember. 'Twas many years ago. I knew right then, most surely That that there was to know.

I remember, I remember. I wore a hard-boiled shirt; Also my first white necktie And white kid gloves that hurt.

I remember, I remember. I had a mighty theme. To save the world from ruin; That was my fondest dream.

I remember, I remember. The problems of the time Were solved by me that evening In language most sublime.

That was back in the distance, How far I most forget. The world was on serenely; I haven't changed it yet.

A fellow who lives in a small town either walks the straight and narrow path or walks the plank. There are too many amateur detectives on the job.

If the sun shows every single day in the year on both sides of the street, this would be a blasted monotonous world to live.

There is such a thing as being too happy all the time, but a fellow can very easily avoid this by moving next door to a family that has three daughters taking lessons, and a young son who plays on the mandolin.

The barber shop is the greatest musical center of this country. I have never known a barber who doesn't play something, even if it was only tunk.

What has become of the old-fashioned lady who used to cover everything with red paint and hang it up in the parlor?

Let the Heathen Rave. Now comes the polycultural art. Polycultural art, let it be known, differs from cubism and futurism.

To ordinary mortals, the kind who say, "I don't know anything about art, but I know what I like," polycultural pictures are the meaningless conglomerations of raw color.

Yet no less an authority than Carl N. Wernitz, president of the Chicago Academy of Fine Arts, gave the following definition:

Polyculturalism—Representing pictures, as "seen by the souls of the mob."

These pictures are based on a multiplicity of perspectives," continued Mr. Wernitz. Polyculturalism shows a picture as it might appear to a man with many eyes. Polycultural art differs from cubism and futurism, although the general effect may appear the same to the layman."

All of which is as clear as a cup of boarding house coffee.

Cheer Up. I'm not afraid of hoodlums. That's very plain to see; I was born on a Friday.

I have contempt, yep, that's me. I walk right under ladders. I spill salt at my will. I've also smashed a mirror.

And I'm around here still.

Around my chair I amble. The wrong way every time. When I am playing poker I have come out first time.

For people superstitious. I never knock on wood. I never pick up a horseshoe. And don't see why I should.

I don't believe in bad luck. It is a foolish thing; Whatever you imagine. That's what you're fate will bring.

There's no use looking forward. To sorrow you'll allow. If Trouble's going to get you, 'Twill get you anyhow.

The Retort Courteous.

Said the needle to the stocking: "I'll run you through and through."

Said the stocking to the needle: "I'll be darned if you do."

Let It Go.

New York politicians want the bureau of standards abolished. Well, it doesn't look as though the New York standard is worth preserving.

Appearances.

He wore side whiskers on his map. He was always in a creaky chair.

A deacon in the church, map, his manner was so meek. His silk hat shone, his white tie gleamed.

About a spotless vest. The folks admired him, for he seemed so far above the rest.

He looked so prosperous withal. It surely seemed he must Be a prophet of the street called Wall.

The head of some great trust.

He wore a deep and abstract air. As though absorbed in thought.

Upon some weighty world affair. His mighty brain had wrought.

His was a quite agonizing, The sad and painful thing.

And no man in town could guess Just what was in his mind.

They thought he was a man of fame. And so the town was down.

As a professor with a name. That has won great renown.

P. S.—But he wasn't. He was neither a scientist, a savant, a prophet maker, a capitalist or a minister. They found afterward to their regret that he was the finest little old poker player that ever thrived in the village and he carried away a suitcase full of yellow-bellied bills.

Thanks for Reading the Column. R. K. M.: It might be of interest to you. A sign in front of a restaurant: "Lunch for Sale, Inquire Within." Use it on some dull morning. I read your column every day.

—F. D. C.

And Then Some.

A Chief Justice sold her husband for $500. She probably got all he was worth.

FARM LABOR HAS BEEN DEPLETED IN ENGLAND BY NATIONAL REGISTER

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE) Manchester, England, Sept. 11.—In Cheshire and Lancashire counties on the west coast the farmers rely largely on Irish labor for harvesting of their grain crops, but this year the supply of this labor has been seriously depleted by the departure of most of the laborers for Ireland in order to escape the National Register.

The farmers gave the laborers every possible assurance that the registration did not involve them in any fresh responsibilities, and did not mean impending conscription. The men, however, seemed to be convinced that the registration form meant that in some way they would be placed under the sway of the government, and sooner or later snatched for military service. In most parts of Ireland registration is not required.

They sell everything—the Gazette Want Ads.

Greek King Shows Lively Interest In War Developments in The East

ATHENS, Sept. 10, via Paris, Sept. 11.—King Constantine of Greece received a correspondent of the Associated Press today at Chateau Dekeleia, summer residence of the royal family at Tatoi. The King expressed regret at his inability, owing to the present critical state of national affairs, to make any visits abroad at this juncture, respecting the policy which will be pursued by Greece.

King Constantine apparently has recovered from his recent illness, although he is somewhat thin and is browned by the summer sun and seems to be in perfect health, ready to take the saddle tomorrow as leader of Greek forces, should occasion require.

He does not look for such a contingency, however. For an hour the king discussed progress of the war, showing the keenest interest. In view of the paucity of war news published from Greek newspapers, he displayed remarkable familiarity with details of military movements, particularly in the eastern theatre of hostilities.

Himself a soldier, the real father of the Greek army today, and victorious leader of his nation's troops in two Balkan wars, the king followed with full comprehension every move of the approaching army. He does not share the general uneasiness in his country concerning what is regarded as the Bulgarian peril.

He does not look for such a contingency, however. For an hour the king discussed progress of the war, showing the keenest interest. In view of the paucity of war news published from Greek newspapers, he displayed remarkable familiarity with details of military movements, particularly in the eastern theatre of hostilities.

Himself a soldier, the real father of the Greek army today, and victorious leader of his nation's troops in two Balkan wars, the king followed with full comprehension every move of the approaching army. He does not share the general uneasiness in his country concerning what is regarded as the Bulgarian peril.

Squab Pigeons For City Lofts.

The city or suburban man who keeps pigeons either for pleasure or as a source of profit will find much practical information in the new Farmers' Bulletin No. 684, Squab Raising, recently issued by the poultry specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture. To the city owner the bulletin offers practical suggestions as to breeds, housing, care and feeding of pigeons to produce for the comfort of his own table or possibly for sale.

The bulletin opens with a strong caution for those thinking about raising pigeons. "Do not expect them to be an automatic gold mine," it says. "The result of inquiries addressed to hundreds of commercial raisers of pigeons, the department's investigator finds, is that a successful raiser for a pair of breeders is considered good. It is pointed out also that pigeons can not be left to themselves if they are to be of profit, and that suitable equal care must be given to breeding stock, special experience, business ability, and a good, steady market. To quote the author: "There have to be many failures in squab raising, as the profits in the business have frequently been greatly overestimated and the care of the stock wrongly regarded as something very easy in which anyone could succeed."

Many people who place pigeons successfully as a side issue, although this requires constant oversight and careful attention to details.

As the price paid for squabs is largely determined by the size and color of their flesh, the squab raiser should be very careful about selecting breeds. The Homer seems to be the most popular breed for squab raising, but it is not so popular as it once was. It has recently become popular. Several other varieties of larger pigeons are used, especially in crossing with the Homer and Chalmers. The Runts are one of the largest, but are not so popular as the Homer. They are used as good breeders or feeders as the Homer. Variety alone, however, does not guarantee successful squabs. The raiser must select birds which should be selected for their productive power, quality and size of squabs and their ability to feed and rear offspring. Breeders with dark colored skins, legs or beaks may be selected, but the quality of squabs that those bred from birds which have white or pinkish-white skin and light-colored legs.

Pigeons are mostly valuable as squab producers when from two to five years of age, although many will breed until they are nearly eight years old. The small varieties mate and breed from five to six months. The larger varieties at eight to nine months. The amateur, therefore, should buy from a thoroughly reliable dealer mated pigeons from two to three years old, or second young from two to five weeks old and mate them at the proper age. In mating the breeders should be selected with a definite object in mind, such as the production of which the females are chosen. This can be accomplished either through natural mating or through forced mating by confining the birds in coops. The males should be kept in a movable wire-mesh partition which can be opened after the birds have seen each other for six to ten days. Care should be taken not to have extra unmated males in the loft, as these interfere with squab production.

For feeding pigeons a good mixture may be made with equal parts by weight of cracked corn, hard red wheat, kaffir corn, and milo. To this 10 per cent of hemp and milo seed should be added during the molting period. Other grains which may be substituted for or added to these are peanuts and hulls of wheat, wheat, Egyptian corn, barley, cowpeas and milo maize. A small quantity of stale bread, rice, rape, millet, canary, vetch and sunflower seed may be fed in the morning and in the afternoon. The essential is a variety of good hard grain and no grain which is in a poor condition should be fed. Old grains which are hard are better than new soft grains. Good wheat screenings and cracked corn are also good. Stimulating seeds, such as alfalfa and vetch, are sometimes used as a tonic during the molting season. The grain may be fed on the floor of the pen if the birds are not too numerous, but for the birds in hoppers which keep the birds from scattering the feed. Where hoppers are not used, the pigeons should be fed twice daily, in the morning and in the afternoon, giving from 1 1/2 to 2 quarts of grain at each meal for twenty birds. An extra pint should be added if there are many squabs. As a general rule, the quantity must be regulated according to the appetite and the birds have all they will clean up in 1 to 2 hours. It costs from $1 to $1.50 a year to feed a pair, according to the local price of grain, and the average report is that a number of growers was $1.32.

Clear drinking water in vessels such that the pigeons can not bathe in them, and broken oyster shells and charcoal, should be kept before the pigeons at all times. Salt should be fed and it is best in a lump form as rock salt, or as fine salt moistened and baked into a hard lump. Bath pans should be provided daily with water except during the winter. They should be emptied by noon. The bath pans should be used only about twice a week during the winter and should then be placed on the floor inside the house.

Pigeons feed and rear their squabs with a thick, creamy mixture called pigeon milk produced by the crop of the pigeons. It is therefore essential that pigeons with squabs have a plentiful supply of grain. As the pigeons feed their squabs shortly after their own meal care should be taken not to disturb them at that time. It is best to water them before they are fed. Pigeons with squabs should never be frightened and should be disturbed as little as possible.

Building a Pigeon House. It will cost, as a general proposition from $1.25 to $1.75 a pair to construct and equip a good pigeon house, provided with the necessary nesting pen or flyway. At the same time, however, pigeons can be accommodated in less pretentious houses and will do well if the loft is built in accordance with modern methods of constructing a chicken house. A loft under a peaked roof can be used. A cable-roof building 10 to 15 feet wide, 8 feet deep to the eaves, and 8 to 10 feet to the ridge make a good pigeon house. A pen 8 by 9 feet will accommodate 25 pairs of pigeons, while 40

Have You Seen The New Under Feed Furnace? If Not, Why Not?

NO dirt or smoke to fill your furnace pipe or chimney with soot. Saves one-half to two-thirds coal bills by using the cheapest coal on the market. Come in and look the furnace over. Sheet metal work of all kinds.

E. H. PELTON

213 E. Milwaukee St.

SUFFOCATING AS SHELLS CAUSE PEOPLE OF ARRAS TO LIVE IN THEIR CELLARS

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE) Paris, Sept. 10.—The comparison between some of the towns destroyed by war and the ruins of Pompeii is not applicable to Arras. Here there is no uniformity of logic in the destruction. In the midst of groups of demolished edifices, houses are found nearly intact. In some cases the devastation began at the top, in others at the bottom, depending upon the point of explosion of the projectile.

The population of Arras, which was 26,000 before the war, dropped to 4,000 at Christmas, and about 500 citizens whose presence was not useful have been sent away since. The 1,000 persons remaining have been able to justify their presence by some utility to the town at the top, in others at the bottom, depending upon the point of explosion of the projectile.

The use of shells emitting suffocating gas when they explode complicates cellar existence, by requiring the stoppage of the windows with sacks of moistened sand, yet the spirits of the last thousands are undaunted; their greatest fear seems to be that the authorities will take them away forcibly.

German aircraft are regularly circling over the town and their appearance is generally a prelude to bombardment.

Where a flyway is provided long perches or boards should be arranged along the sides of the loft, so that the birds can be taken out during the warm weather. One window in each pen may be replaced by muslin curtains for ventilation in cold weather. Windows should be placed just below the eaves so that the sun may shine well back into the house.

Where a flyway is provided long perches or boards should be arranged along the sides of the loft, so that the birds can be taken out during the warm weather. One window in each pen may be replaced by muslin curtains for ventilation in cold weather. Windows should be placed just below the eaves so that the sun may shine well back into the house.

Where a flyway is provided long perches or boards should be arranged along the sides of the loft, so that the birds can be taken out during the warm weather. One window in each pen may be replaced by muslin curtains for ventilation in cold weather. Windows should be placed just below the eaves so that the sun may shine well back into the house.

Where a flyway is provided long perches or boards should be arranged along the sides of the loft, so that the birds can be taken out during the warm weather. One window in each pen may be replaced by muslin curtains for ventilation in cold weather. Windows should be placed just below the eaves so that the sun may shine well back into the house.

BEELGIAN BOYS ANNOY GERMAN SOLDIERS BY STEALING SWORD-KNOTS

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE) Amsterdam, Sept. 11.—The Brussels Kettes—street boys—have found a new method of annoying the German soldiers. The children steal the sword-knots from the German soldiers in a crowd, they cut off the leather knot of his sword and carry it away as a trophy.

A boy of fifteen has been sentenced to three months' imprisonment for having boasted that he had secured fifty-four of these knots. A Belgian banker is said to have offered $200 to anyone who will relieve General von Bissing of his sword-knot. The knots are generally sold for the benefit of the Belgian Red Cross, and they bring higher prices than any other trophies.

SECRETARY OF THE DUTCH NAVY COMMENDS THE WORK OF NAVAL MINE LAYERS

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE) The Hague, Netherlands, Sept. 11.—The secretary of the Dutch Navy has issued a special proclamation expressing his appreciation of the work done by the Dutch naval mine layers, whose duty since the European war began has largely been the removal of the mines of other nations which are blown into Dutch territorial waters. More than a dozen of the men have been killed in performing the risky operation of blowing up these mines or taking them apart.

Altogether 234 mines of foreign origin have been washed up on Dutch ground and put out of harm's way.

INSURANCE COMMISSIONER M. J. CLEARY AT CALIFORNIA

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE) Madison, Wis., Sept. 11.—Insurance Commissioner M. J. Cleary has left for California to attend the national con-

BASE BALL

Don't miss Sunday's game at the Fair Grounds. Final game of the inter-city series.

Beloit F. M. A. A. vs. Janesville Cardinals

ADMISSION, 25c FOR ALL. GRANDSTAND, 10c.

Admission will be charged ladies for this game.

WE SELL THE BEST and CHEAPEST Insurance Policy issued by any company

C. P. BEERS, Agent

2nd Floor, Jackman Bldg.

Both Phones.

Boys' Best-Ever School Suits

$5.00 $6.50 $7.50 $8.50.

These suits are just what the name implies "Best-Ever" and are

Children's Teeth

Your children will not be and can be as efficient in their studies if their teeth are not in the right condition. Don't put it off until later. The time to correct a trouble is at the beginning.

Children like to come to me because I don't hurt them.

DR. F. T. RICHARDS

Dentist.
(Over Rehberg's.)
All work fully guaranteed.

SUSPECT IS GIVEN LARCENY SENTENCE

Phillip E. Powers Given Six Months In Jail in Default of Fine.—William Karl Sentenced for Contempt.

Phillip E. Powers, the man arrested as a suspect by Chief of Police F. O. Champion for the numerous house robberies, was arraigned in the municipal court this morning on a complaint filed by Charles E. Pierce, acting district attorney, charging petit larceny to the amount of $8.75. The property alleged to be stolen in the complaint is owned by Harry Marshall and George Keating and consisted of a watch, shaving mug and equipment.

Powers entered a plea of guilty to the charge, and on recommendation of the court, Chief of Police Champion said that Powers might be a "light hawk" and gave that reason for his arrest. The prisoner, who is 24 years of age, blamed liquor as the cause for his stealing the property. The sentence of the court was a one hundred dollar fine or six months in jail. Powers was committed to the county jail.

During the afternoon Powers was subjected to examination by Chief of Police Champion in hopes of learning if he was connected with any of the numerous house robberies and if he might be the "third ward ruffian" who has been a constant terror on him but the minor thefts, for he persistently denied any other offenses.

William Karl was the first victim of a fine or punishment for contempt of court for some years, and a sarcastic remark addressed to Judge H. L. Maxfield cost him fifteen days in jail in addition to his sentence of twenty-five dollars and costs or thirty days. It was quite evident that Karl had not recovered from his intoxication of last night when brought before the justice bench this morning. He sauntered up to the bench, winked at the court officer and was too "fresh." The climax of his conduct came when he sat down on the bench and grinned at the judge. He started to tell the court that he was "in fool" when he was hauled up for contempt and then given the maximum penalty for drunkenness.

"Wait a minute," said Karl, as the court officer started to take him down to the jail. "I want to go back and fix it up with the judge, for I am going to jail."

"Come along," answered the officer. "If you go back you'll get life."

James Gagon, an old and crippled man, was arraigned for intoxication, and after a short hearing he was dismissed on his promise to return to work.

Walter Gerber, a 17 year old youth, who was on a drinking crew, happened to be in town last night for amusement sought to attract the attention of two young ladies. Walter started to follow them in "rube" fashion, and the young ladies attracted the attention of Patrolman Thomas Morrissey, who told the young man that his sentimental efforts were being wasted. This morning Gerber was arraigned for intoxication and fined $10.00 and costs or 10 days in jail. He was committed to the county jail.

Go to the Fair grounds Sunday and boost for another winning game against Beloit.

BILLIARD BALL SET STOLEN FROM STORE

Three Balls Taken From Safely Store Worth Between Forty and Fifty Dollars.

Police records show that once in a while a thief will steal a cookstove, an empty safe, or a motor just for the fun of it, but the stealing of billiard balls is a new thing. Last night when a set of billiard balls were stolen from the Safely store on North Academy street. Three men were playing pool last night and the billiard balls were placed in a box and kept in an open safe toward the front of the store and behind the counter.

An hour later the employees went to close the safe and the billiard balls were missing. Despite the fact that the theft was at first seen to be only a small loss, the balls of the ivory set were worth between forty and fifty dollars and could easily be disposed of by the thieves. It was learned that the three men who are suspected of the theft were on a north bound train last night.

Beloit plays here next Sunday.

MATTERS TAKE FORM FOR "Y" CAMPAIGN

Boosters for Membership In Committee Meeting Last Night and Select Five Executives.

Last night the membership committee of the Y. M. C. A. met at the building and made definite plans for the coming campaign. A number of men were chosen, out of which five will be taken to represent the executive committee. These five men will be captains of teams of fifteen men each, and will go out each day canvassing for members. During the week of the campaign a luncheon will be served each noon, and the different teams will check up their results and their respective scores will be made out and posted in a place where the public can watch the progress made. Further details of the plans will be announced later.

FAIR THIEVES WORK AT RHINELANDER, WIS.

Pickpockets Secure Two Purse at Fair White Snake Thieves Raid Several Business Stores.

Rhineland, Sept. 11.—Pickpockets were working here today at the fair and succeeded in touching Fred Piel, head of the Gagen Lumber and Cedar company, for $75. Roman Wood-sicka, supervisor, also lost a purse containing $7.

Robbers succeeded in getting about $5 last night in three raids on local business houses.

PLATS NEW ADDITION NEAR CITY OF EDGERTON

The plat of towns Albion road addition to the City of Edgerton, was recorded today at the office of County Register of Deeds, F. E. Snider. The plat consists of eighteen lots a short distance north of Edgerton and between that place and Saunders Creek. The ground was platted by L. H. Town.

MAY MARRY: County Clerk Lee today issued marriage licenses to Byron Veek and Emma Anderson, both of Edgerton, and to Norman Ameson of Stoughton and Laura Nygaard of Edgerton.

APOLLO CLUB PLANS FOR COMING SEASON

Persuade Upon George S. Parker to Again Take Presidency.—Will Boost Membership.

During the past few months there has been considerable discussion as to the future of the Apollo Club. Owing to the lack of interest in things musical, at least in the class of music for which the Apollo club is sponsor, the results have been in a measure discouraging to the directors and officers of this organization.

The directors of the Apollo club contended that if the body was to be continued, it must be maintained by people who are not up to the mark by public subscription and as a duty pertaining to civic pride. There are hundreds of people in the city of Janesville who are musical and who believe in things musical and who believe in the Apollo club and for what it stands, yet have been perfectly content to permit the financial responsibility to be placed on others, a member of the new board of officers contended today.

The annual meeting of the directors was held on Thursday and the situation was thoroughly gone over. The present board of directors consists of F. F. Lewis, E. E. Van Pool, Prof. Taylor, Geo. S. Parker, Mrs. John G. Rexford and Mrs. Alice Sherer Thomas was elected to fill a vacancy on the board of directors.

George S. Parker was nominated and urged to continue to serve the club as its president. He has been absolutely declined to do so, stating in his opinion the club's interests could best be served by another. Mr. Parker stated that in his opinion the membership of the club is at least two hundred, thus insuring financial success of the organization.

The directors discussed the subject of attractions for the coming season and it was practically a unanimous conclusion that there should be perhaps two big numbers in the Apollo club which would be given by artists of national reputation. One of these numbers would be the opening number. The entire series, however, would be of the highest grade, even if it was necessary to use a portion of the surplus the club has at its command.

Last game of the series Sunday.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Ladies will be charged 25c for the final game of the inter-city baseball series at the Fair Grounds Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry White returned from Chicago this morning after a visit with friends and relatives. Mr. White is in the Lincoln Hotel, which is being held at the Coliseum.

Dr. K. W. Shipman and wife left today for Ladysmith, where they will make their home in the future. Miss Esther Shipman preceded her parents some weeks ago.

G. F. Hyde of LaCrosse, Wis., is in the city spending Sunday. He is a member of the Y. M. C. A. and is on his way to Waukegan, where he will attend Carroll college this winter.

John Soulmán, C. E. "Buck" Hunter, and Thomas E. Welsh attended today the Green county fair at Monroe.

Fred Granger is transacting business at Waukegan.

Dan Higgins, greeted old Monroe friends and also attended the fair there today.

Fred Holt, superintendent of the public schools at Middleton last year, has accepted a similar position for the coming year. He is now in Janesville yesterday to join her husband.

Mrs. W. H. McGuire and Mrs. F. A. McGuire are spending the day in Chicago.

Miss Grace Murphy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Murphy, 314 South Main street, has returned from a six weeks' visit in Iowa.

Miss Frances Hall attended the Crane dance at Willowdale hall last evening.

Edith Jiru was among the Janesville visitors at the Crane dance last night.

Mrs. Addie Babcock of Evansville, visited at the home of Herman A. Heise in this city today.

The Cardinals have won three straight games from Beloit. Help make it four next Sunday at Fair grounds.

BRIEF LOCAL NEWS.

Janesville Lodge No. 55 F. A. M., will meet in special communication Monday, Sept. 13, at 8 p. m., at the Masonic temple to attend the funeral of late brother M. C. Fish. W. M.

A daughter, Eunice Esther, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Foster, 442 South Jackson street, on Thursday, Sept. 9.

The W. C. T. U. will meet Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. H. A. Palmer, 427 Logan avenue. Every member is urged to be present. Important business.

Winfield Rau leaves Monday morning for Des Moines, Ia., where he enters Highland Park college.

Helpful Suggestion.

The customer came forward to attend to the nervous old bean who was mopping his bald and shining poll with a big silk handkerchief.

"And what can I do for you?" he asked.

"I want a little help in the way of a suggestion," said the old fellow. "I intend going to the French students' masquerade ball tonight, and I want a distinctly original costume—something I may be sure no one else will wear. What would you suggest?"

The customer looked him over attentively, bestowing special notice on the gleaming bald.

"Well, I'll tell you," he said then, thoughtfully, "why don't you sugar your head and go as a pill?"—Tid-Bits.

Bargains of all kinds in Gazette want ads.

PROPOSED STANDARD FOR STREET LIGHT

Two Different Types of Standards and Lights Are Being Considered by Council.

Two types of street lights for the proposed ornamental lighting system to be ordered by the city, have been erected on the Main and Milwaukee street corner for the purpose of public inspection and to give the lights a test. The latest light standard has been placed on the People's drug store corner and was wired today so that the lights will be turned on for the first time tonight.

The new standard is fifteen feet in height, three feet higher than the Continental type on the "Bower" City bank corner and consequently is heavier and more expensive. Both have about the same reflectors and give a most brilliant, uniform light. It is the present plan of the city commission to have eight of these lights on a block, four on each side of the street, so that each intersection would have four lights.

Until Mayor James A. Fatherson receives the report on the new lighting system, it will not be considered. It will be the first aim of the city commission, however, to see that the new ordinance for the elimination of telephone and power poles is enforced and all poles removed in removing the zone before the lights will be installed. The Janesville Electric company has made some progress in removing the poles and it will be necessary for the removal of the poles on Milwaukee and Main street and to complete the change in current system, before the "white-way" lights can be installed and lighted. No complete estimates have yet been furnished to the city official on the construction of the ornamental lighting system. In the resident district Councilman Roy Cummings has supervised many changes of the old arc lights to one hundred candle power incandescent lights and more of the smaller lights in proportion are being installed.

CONFERENCE VOTES AGAINST A UNION

Consolidation of Two Methodist Church Districts Is Opposed at Racine Meeting.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Racine, Sept. 11.—The Wisconsin conference of M. E. churches met today as the annual conference after long and heated debate, the vote standing 88 to 49.

Rev. J. S. Leaver of Milwaukee, a member of the joint commission of the two conferences which has been studying the matter, led the argument in favor of the union assisted by Rev. Samuel Flint, of Lawrence College, Dr. B. T. White, of Oshkosh and Rev. J. T. Tippet, of Appleton, headed the speakers against the proposition.

The discussion was participated in by numerous speakers for and against question and was not unmarked with display of deep feeling. The laymen's conference did not vote on the question, although they turned it down decisively a year ago.

SPECIAL SCHOOLS BEING ESTABLISHED IN FRANCE: INSTRUCT THE CRIPPLES

Paris, Sept. 11.—Announcement was made today that special schools were being opened in France for the interior, commerce, and agriculture, for the purpose of instructing crippled soldiers, so as to make them self-supporting. These schools are being established in many towns.

COLD WEATHER COAT

The coat pictured here was one of the most fetching designs at the recent fashion show in New York. The model is 42 inches long and is semi-fitting with box effect in the front. Flat collar and turnover cuffs of Himalaya brown satin lining, and buttons of the same material. A chic little cap of the same material as the coat lends a fetching note to the warm garment.

ITALIANS IMPRESS WRITER AS BEING FIT FOR HARD WAR

Troops Are Well Equipped and Cared for and Their Spirit in Fighting Is Most Business-Like.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

The Italian front in Trentino, Sept. 11.—A foreigner visiting the Italian army along any of the fronts is quickly impressed with the camaraderie existing between the soldiers.

King Victor Emmanuel is, perhaps, the most affable of all the Italian officers toward the soldiers. The king uses a high-powered motor car in his constant tours along the fronts, but he always finds time to chat with groups of soldiers, speaking in the native dialect of the men he is talking to.

Belais French and Italian officers and men has been made for excellent discipline and bravery, military experts state. And for this reason all attempts to enforce the German system of discipline in the Italian army have been abandoned.

With the exception of the British fighting in France, it is said no other nation takes as good care of its soldiers as Italy. The food is excellent and plentiful. The rations are cooked twice a day and served hot, regardless of whether the soldiers are in the trenches, on the reserve firing line, or on the highest mountain.

The first aid corps provides adequate facilities for handling the wounded along the firing line, while numerous field hospitals are located convenient to the fronts. Several large base hospitals have been established.

Numerous Reliefs.

In addition to the numerous reliefs carried out by private and public subscription, Chief among these are the "first aid restaurants," which were established by an English woman, Signora F. Woodford only a few days ago.

Along the front in the Trentino rises rapidly from the heat of the valleys to the sharp cold of the Alpine heights. In the cold rock crevices, in many cases these caves are lined with planks and all are heated by fireplaces.

In the Cadore, north of Gortina and near the Monte Pelicciolo, which rises near 11,000 feet, there is a fair-sized town consisting entirely of entrenchments, or dugouts and caves. All of the caves are furnished with rough furniture made on the spot. The soldiers have beds of moss. The walls are covered with ivy and fir cones.

Over the entrance to the officers' mess is a "Grand Hotel Mortar." In the center of the "hotel" hangs a cage containing a canary captured in an Austrian trench. Outside of the mess hall, and at various places in the caves, are life-size and heroic busts of King Victor have been carved in the rock faces.

Chapel Services.

A chapel has been cut in one side of a large cave, where it is sheltered from the enemy's shells. A portable altar has been erected and the soldiers have lined the walls of the chapel with pieces of bright quartz, scraps of colored cloth and the silver and gold paper from cigar and cigarette packages.

In another part of the settlement an open space is reserved for amusements. Here plays are given with officers and men mingling in the audience or games are held, except during heavy fighting.

A museum containing objects secured during the campaign, was started in a corner of the amusement square. The chief display is a mandolin which was owned by a young Italian soldier who lost his life in a desperate hand-to-hand encounter with Austrians after the latter had taunted the Italians with being an army of "mutilated" rather than of "wounded" soldiers.

On the heights overlooking the Dolomite road there is much evidence of recent battles in that section. Many fresh graves bore inscriptions, indicating that the Italian and German soldiers had been buried in the same spot.

The Italian officers have already accomplished much in transporting large quantities of supplies, such as food, as well as keeping an adequate supply of ammunition and food on hand. But still greater plans are being made for conducting the campaign during the winter, with beginnings early in September in that section. On the extreme heights sentries have already suffered from frostbites, and scouts have found difficulty in traversing the glacial snows.

A visit to the Isonzo country offers an excellent example of the efficient organization of all departments of the Italian fighting machine. Noteworthy engineering feats have been accomplished by Italian engineers working under fire. The work of the commissariat, medical and sanitary departments, which has shown the same accomplishments of the engineers, have played an equally important part in the operations.

Business Attitude.

From General Cadorna down to the ordinary private, one is everywhere impressed with the simple, yet business-like manner of the operations. About the main headquarters there is no rattling of swords or the clinking of heels, no great force of guards and sentries, no messengers dashing up on horseback or motorcycle. All orders are transmitted by telephone, telegraph or wireless, except such as are given by the generals in their daily trips along the fronts.

Close to the front in the eastern Friuli, which is a section well known for intensive cultivation, the peasants are at work in the fields, apparently having suffered little or no interruption by the movement of a large army throughout the country.

The situation is entirely different, however, in the territory that was Austrian until ten weeks or so ago. Sentries are apparently everywhere and everything is under military control. Remains of barricades litter the country, and the place of the bridge which were destroyed by the retreating Austrians, and the homes of a large portion of the population were destroyed by shells. Many of the villages were ransacked by the retreating enemy.

CONTESTED DIVORCE CASE IS ADJOURNED YESTERDAY FOR SEVERAL WEEKS PERIOD

Mrs. Florence Coakley's contesting the divorce action of her husband, George Coakley, who occupied the attention of Judge George Graham, in Circuit Court here yesterday has been continued. Attorneys for both plaintiff and defendant consumed so much time in the case during yesterday afternoon that it was unable to draw the matter to a close. The case will be taken up again within the course of several weeks, just previous to the opening of the fall term of circuit court. Principals of the action are from Beloit.

Beloit plays here next Sunday.

Every Saturday evening this bank is open for business from 7:15 to 8:30 o'clock.

One dollar will open an account.

The Rock County Savings & Trust Co.

"THE BANK FOR SAVINGS."

NEW BLOOD

One result of the MILK and REST TREATMENT is the production of an abundance of good blood, rich in red blood corpuscles and hemoglobin—the principal element of blood.

It is a well established fact that through the blood only can any chronic disease or ailment be cured.

None of the usual methods of heart stimulation, such as alcohol or other drugs, massage, inhalations of oxygen, solutions injected into the veins, or transfusion of blood, can equal the results of the MILK DIET TREATMENT in effect, in permanency, in total lack of danger.

Above treatment given by M. A. CUNNINGHAM, M. D. Central Block. Both Phones.

HOTEL ARRIVALS.

Myers Hotel—Wm. Bicker, W. G. Wagner, D. C. Pierce, A. W. Bates, W. G. Hibbard, R. P. Worthman, Mr. and Mrs. Kiefer, Milwaukee; S. Seger, F. F. Woodford only, J. Cartwright, C. A. Schmidt, Mrs. F. Black, J. Badworth, H. Stillman, Madison; F. Jucks, C. E. Englehardt, Brohead; W. B. Gachman, Fond du Lac; H. Adams, George Cookley, Fred Coone, Beloit.

Grand Hotel—O. A. Eagman, H. C. Humphrey, H. M. Noulton, W. R. Boyd, T. C. Kellogg, S. Schuffenecker, W. E. Umell, A. E. Johnson, George Brown, J. B. Brown, J. P. Frederick, C. H. Fox, Milwaukee; H. J. Stone, Marshfield; W. H. Howard, L. S. Siege, A. A. Johnson, Chicago; George Grimm, Jefferson; R. McAlpine, Mrs. M. M. Rudd, Miss T. Meyer, Reedsburg; M. H. Button, T. O. Yates, Waukegan; H. Grubb, Hal R. Martin, Edgerton; Ross M. Varen, Stella Finn, Joyce Reddell, Helen Weed, Jessie Reynolds, Black River Falls; Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Launstein, Rolla, Cuny, Baraboo; and Mrs. B. H. Roderick, Brohead.

The Lower City Bank

Sam E. Egtvedt, TUNING

Call Sherer's Drug Store or R. C. Phone 862.

OLIVE OIL

Our CROWN OF ARAGON Olive Oil is absolutely pure and unadulterated, is rich, has good body and fine flavor. Nothing finer on the market today. It is finding its way into many of the homes of this city where it has won its place by its superior quality.

Price from 35c to $3.40.

Dedrick Bros.

18 lbs. Granulated Sugar $1.00

100 lb. sack Granulated Sugar $5.70

1200 lbs. fine Picnic Hams 9c lb.

These are fine hams, weighing from 8 to 12 lbs.

Extra Special for Saturday Only

10 Bars Lenox Soap 25c

1 box Lenox Soap 100 bars $2.50

E. R. Winslow

19-21 So. River St.

PURE MILK

JANESVILLE PURE MILK COMPANY

Manufacturers of Fine Dairy Products.

57 S. Franklin St. New phone 373. Old phone 461.

The Janesville Civic League. On Monday, Sept. 13, at three o'clock p. m., the Janesville Civic League will hold a meeting in the city hall. As this will be the first meeting after the summer vacation, it is hoped that every member will be present.

FAIR STORE

DRY GOODS DEPT.

Crepe de Chine waists $2.00. Fancy silk and net waists $1.25. White voile, rice cloth and India linen waists 50c, 75c, $1.00. Middles, white or colored, 50c. Children's white dresses, 50c, $1.00, $2.20.

Children's colored gingham and linen, all sizes, 50c, $1.00 up. Wash skirts, white or colored, 50c. Rompers 25c, 50c. Bloomers, all sizes. Street dresses, $1.25, $2.50 up. House dresses, light or dark wraps, all sizes, $1.00.

Crepe kimono $1.00 and $1.25. Dressing gowns 25c and 50c. Wash skirts, white or colored, 49c. Saten skirts 75c, $1.00, $1.50. Union suits 25c and 50c.

Combination suits 50c, 75c, 98c. Princess, Slips, 98c, $1.25. Embroidered and lace trimmed skirts, 59c, $1.00 up.

Couch covers $1.00 and $1.35. Lace curtains, ecru and white, for 98c, $1.35 and $1.50 pair. Bed spreads, hand made, fringed, or scalloped $1.50 and $1.45. Sheets, full size, 47c and 75c. Pillow slips, 25c, 35c and 50c pair. Table linen, 72 inches wide, 50c, 75c and 98c yard.

White or colored linen, 25c. Silk boot hose, 25c and 50c. Children's Hats. Sweaters, all sizes.

Systematic saving is the life plan of countless thousands of persons who have worked out their own economic salvation.

We furnish the little home Saving Banks free, to encourage systematic saving.

The Lower City Bank

Sam E. Egtvedt, TUNING

Call Sherer's Drug Store or R. C. Phone 862.

OLIVE OIL

Our CROWN OF ARAGON Olive Oil is absolutely pure and unadulterated, is rich, has good body and fine flavor. Nothing finer on the market today. It is finding its way into many of the homes of this city where it has won its place by its superior quality.

Price from 35c to $3.40.

Dedrick Bros.

18 lbs. Granulated Sugar $1.00

100 lb. sack Granulated Sugar $5.70

1200 lbs. fine Picnic Hams 9c lb.

These are fine hams, weighing from 8 to 12 lbs.

Extra Special for Saturday Only

10 Bars Lenox Soap 25c

1 box Lenox Soap 100 bars $2.50

E. R. Winslow

19-21 So. River St.

PURE MILK

JANESVILLE PURE MILK COMPANY

Manufacturers of Fine Dairy Products.

57 S. Franklin St. New phone 373. Old phone 461.

AMUSEMENTS

(Notices furnished by the theatres.)

FAMOUS $75,000 RUG IN FILMS

MAUD ALLAN AND FAMOUS RUG

SHAH ABBAS
ANTIQUE
A FEATURE OF MOTION PICTURE

The famous Shah Abbas rug, the masterpiece of the noted $250,000.00 collection of Frank L. Lotnas of Los Angeles, though famed for years in the rug lore of this country and Europe for its wonderful beauty and history, has been seen by but few people. It is kept in a vault under lock and key, which the discovery of certain mysterious conspiracies in time past has rendered advisable, and the visitor whom the owner honors with an invitation to see it may count himself lucky indeed.

It is this wonderful antique that has been loaned to Bosworth, Inc., the Los Angeles film producers, to play a prominent part in a forthcoming release, "The Rug Maker's Daughter," for which picture the famous classic dancer, Maud Allan, has been engaged at an enormous figure.

The rug is a great, magnificent mass of pure silk, warp, wool and knot, eight feet four inches wide and ten feet four inches long. In every one of the 12,400 square inches are 810 tiny, hand-tied knots, a total of 10,044,000 knots in all, which one man tied by hand one at a time. The weaving of this masterpiece over three centuries ago took one expert rugmaker over seven years to complete. At least two of the dyes displayed in this rug are lost to the world. They are a rich Tyrian Purple and a Royal Blue. The central inscription presents the private sign manual of the Sultan of Turkey and stamps it as a personal gift to one mighty potentate from another in days long dead and gone.

The Lotnas collection of Los Angeles presents some exceptional specimens of the early art of the Orient, and its values, particularly in the case of the Shah Abbas rug, are difficult to compute without understatement. In 1908 an eight by ten Persian silk owned by a wealthy New Yorker was valued at $40,000. It is probably worth three times as much to-day. In the sale of the famous Yerkes collection some time ago under the auspices of the American Art Association, one small rug about six by seven feet, smaller and not the quality of the Shah Abbas, brought $37,000. The Shah Abbas rug, therefore, is worth a fabulous sum, and those who have often expressed their hopes of viewing this wonderful antique, will soon have the opportunity to see it at the Apollo on Monday next.

AT THE APOLLO.

Blanche Sweet in "The Clue."

In "The Clue," which will be presented at the Apollo on Wednesday, Blanche Sweet plays the role of a wealthy American girl whose lover believes himself to have been guilty of an unintentional murder, and who stands steadfast throughout the days of tribulation, never failing in courage, understanding or sympathy. It is one of the noblest characters she has ever been called upon to impersonate, and one of the finest pieces of work she has done.

The "clue" as might be inferred from the title, is a detective drama, the central event of which is the murder of a Russian who has in his possession secret plans of the Japanese coast defenses. At the time of the murder the Russian and his elder brother are both seeking to marry rich American girls, having become intimately involved in the domestic life of the families. Guy Bertram, who is the lover of the Russian girl, is played by Miss Sweet, and who has one of the Russians as his own rival, is increased that the other Russian should be paying attention to his sister. Guy Bertram, who is the lover of the Russian girl, is played by Miss Sweet, and who has one of the Russians as his own rival, is increased that the other Russian should be paying attention to his sister.

The ultimate solution of the intricate mystery which has become apparently impossible of explanation, suddenly clears up in a twinkling, and the expert detective finds that justice is done.

AT THE APOLLO.

Clara Kimball Young in "Marrying Money."

Clara Kimball Young, the beautiful photoplay star of the World Film, will be seen with a strong Shubert cast in the delightful farce comedy, "Marrying Money," at the Apollo on Tuesday. This film favorite will be remembered because of the many features in which she has been presented at the Apollo, such as "My Official Wife," "Deep Purple," "Lola," "Hearts in Exile" and others.

In "Marrying Money," she portrays the role of an heiress for whose money a penniless lawyer is striving to marry. In order to aid his chances he claims to be rich. Her father loses his money and her mother insists that she marry with this rich lawyer before the ruin of her father becomes known. The lawyer's friend urges him to elope at once as their finances are gone.

They do elope and the truth comes out, but they care not for they have learned to love each other. They are in a quandary as to how they will be able to live, when his rich uncle's lawyer arrives and tells Theodore there is a will saying that in the event of Theodore's marriage he should receive

SIDE LIGHTS on THE CIRCUS BUSINESS

By D. W. WATT

(Copyrighted.)

Did you ever stop to think of the way that you should go to a circus to get the most good out of it? Well, I am going to tell you. And I got my cue for this at the Barnum & Bailey show a few weeks ago in Beloit. While talking to a friend in the menagerie, two families, each having three or four children, were nearby, and a little girl that seemed to be some seven or eight years old and very interested in the cage animals, asked her mother a question about them, which seemed to the parent to be very funny, and instead of explaining to the child something about the animals, which she should have done, she turned to her friends and told them the question the child had asked, and they all had a good laugh at the child's expense, the child hiding her face in shame and from that time on seemed to be afraid to ask any more questions.

Now, where is there a better school of instruction for children than any one of the menageries of the big shows? If that mother had answered the child as she should, and explained to her what the animals were, and the countries that they came from, how they were captured in their wild state, and if there was anything that the mother could not have answered intelligently herself, she should have asked the keepers, who are always glad to answer any questions as to the animals, and their habits in their wild state. If parents with children would be at the show promptly at one o'clock and spend the entire hour before the performance commences in showing the children through and giving them all the information they could gather, it would be an education and never would be forgotten. For in one of those big menageries there are animals from every country in the world, and the attendants always take the time to answer all the questions and are ever ready to answer any.

Keep this in mind when you go to the next big show, and see that you give all the information and that of the children.

One of the most interesting articles that I have ever read was sent me last week, and it was written for the Theatre, which is a theatrical journal published in New York, and was written by Townsend Walsh, the highest class writer of circuses and theatricals in this country, and what makes the article of more than ordinary interest to me is the fact that every person mentioned in the article were personal friends of mine back in the 1890's, and among them being the same Dockertill, the great English rider; Tom Barry, the clown; Daisy Belmont, the great bareback rider, and by the way, I made out the first contract that Daisy Belmont signed as a rider in the business. And when I said to her: "What show have you been with, and where did you learn to ride, and don't think I will have heard of you before." Daisy was then sixteen years old and had never traveled with a show before, but simply said: "What show?"

What people say that Billy Burke never had to study or practice for his work, for he was a natural clown in the circus or on the street, and I guess my riding is the same way. I was naturally a rider, and have only practiced practically the entire winter past.

Billy Burke, the popular star, is the daughter of a clown who was equally as popular in his day. The actress, as is well known, at the beginning of her stage career discarded her baptismal name of Ethel, and decided to perpetuate her father's memory by adopting his euphonious nom de circus.

Billy Burke was the favorite fester of the sawdust arena in the '80's. Circus day was a red letter day to the youngsters when Billy Burke happened to be the clown. What a thrill of delight and excitement the children of the day experienced when Billy bounded into the ring, in all the glory of the motley, and proceeded to unload his cargo of witticisms and drolics! Circus day in the '80's was a tame event to the children who anticipated his appearance and found him missing on the occasion.

Now, Mr. Burke, what have you got to say for yourself today?

The ringmaster would ask with an assumed air of indifference, as he swept the magic air with his whip. Whereupon Billy would pour forth a volley of mystifying conundrums, the solution of each bringing ridicule upon Mr. Ringmaster.

I have forgotten the name of the dignitary who served as the best foil to Billy in these contests of wit. Was it the debonnaire Mr. Den W. Stone, or the polished Mr. William Castle, or the affable and portly Mr. Sid J. Eason? It really does not matter much, as Billy Burke alone was the magnet of attraction.

His assumed air of deference to the ringmaster and his slyness in "taking a rise" out of him, his injured innocence when caught with the penny whistle concealed in his capacious pockets, his gusto in singing the regulation "clown song," which constitutes one of the features of the performance, his condescension in holding up the paper hoops and banners while assisting at the graceful equestrienne acts of Mme. Dockertill and Miss Daisy Belmont, his undisguised admiration for those charming ladies expressed in eloquent pantomime—all this had to be seen to be appreciated.

I never had the privilege of meeting Billy Burke in propria persona and without his makeup. But I have heard that he was the same genial, jolly fellow that he appeared to be in the ring. Unlike Sir James Matlow Barrie's clown—the clown in "Pantomime," who is a venomous malignant little "Joey" in spite of his comicality, Billy Burke was the incarnation of good fellowship and good humor, with or without his grease paint.

I have heard old time circus men, sententious of speech but sapient in their observations, take the measure of Billy Burke's greatness. According to these connoisseurs, he was not as nimble of wit and quick of repartee as Johnny Patterson, "the Rambler from Clare." He did not have as plastic a "mug" as Whimsical Waller; he was not as fine a leaper as James Murray; he was not as expert a pantomimist as Francois Kennebel; and he could not sing the conventional "clown song" as sonorously as Tom Barry. But he could do everything well, that each of these clever fellows specialized in. In short, he was the most versatile man of them all.

During the '80's, he alternated as a professional funmaker between the respective circuses of Phineas Taylor Barnum, William Cameron Coup and "Father Adam" Forepaugh. His last appearance in New York was in 1892 on the stage of the Academy of Music in a Christmas Pantomime, "Cinderella." Fanny Ward was the lovely heroine. Billy Burke played Pantomime in the harlequinade to the clown George D. McVillie, the Harlequin of Auguste Siegrist and the Columbine of Edith Craske.

Clowns of the Billy Burke type are very an extinct race nowadays. This, without any disparagement of the many clever men in the employ of the estate Messrs. Ringling. There are plenty of talented fellows with the heaven-born gift of humor and the performance, his condescension in holding up the paper hoops and banners while assisting at the graceful equestrienne acts of Mme. Dockertill and Miss Daisy Belmont, his undisguised admiration for those charming ladies expressed in eloquent pantomime—all this had to be seen to be appreciated.

I never had the privilege of meeting Billy Burke in propria persona and without his makeup. But I have heard that he was the same genial, jolly fellow that he appeared to be in the ring. Unlike Sir James Matlow Barrie's clown—the clown in "Pantomime," who is a venomous malignant little "Joey" in spite of his comicality, Billy Burke was the incarnation of good fellowship and good humor, with or without his grease paint.

I have heard old time circus men, sententious of speech but sapient in their observations, take the measure of Billy Burke's greatness. According to these connoisseurs, he was not as nimble of wit and quick of repartee as Johnny Patterson, "the Rambler from Clare." He did not have as plastic a "mug" as Whimsical Waller; he was not as fine a leaper as James Murray; he was not as expert a pantomimist as Francois Kennebel; and he could not sing the conventional "clown song" as sonorously as Tom Barry. But he could do everything well, that each of these clever fellows specialized in. In short, he was the most versatile man of them all.

During the '80's, he alternated as a professional funmaker between the respective circuses of Phineas Taylor Barnum, William Cameron Coup and "Father Adam" Forepaugh. His last appearance in New York was in 1892 on the stage of the Academy of Music in a Christmas Pantomime, "Cinderella." Fanny Ward was the lovely heroine. Billy Burke played Pantomime in the harlequinade to the clown George D. McVillie, the Harlequin of Auguste Siegrist and the Columbine of Edith Craske.

Clowns of the Billy Burke type are very an extinct race nowadays. This, without any disparagement of the many clever men in the employ of the estate Messrs. Ringling. There are plenty of talented fellows with the heaven-born gift of humor and the

MYERS THEATRE

RETURN ENGAGEMENT

MONDAY

Matinee and Night

2:30, 7:30 and 9:00.

B. A. Rolfe Presents

Orrin Johnson

in

Satan Sanderson

FROM THE FAMOUS

NOVEL BY HALLIE

ERMINIE RIVES.

Orrin Johnson, the popular dramatic star takes the dual role of the incorrigible "Satan" and gives wide vogue to the dramatic powers of the carefully selected cast of prominent players.

All Seats 10c.

Hear the Majestic
ORCHESTRA
TOMORROW "The Story of the Blood Red Rose" With Kaythlyn Williams

PRINCESS
TONIGHT
Love's Melody
a two act feature.

HAM and BUD The Merry Moving Men.

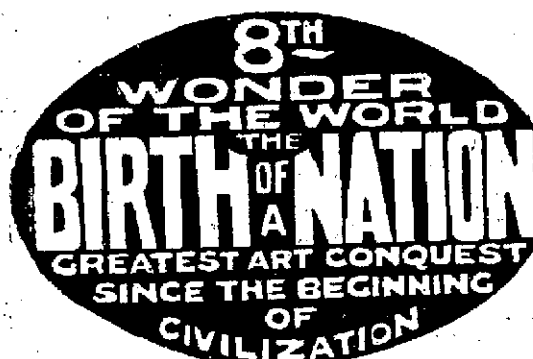

HAZARDS OF HELEN

The Girl on the Engine.

Sunday Afternoon and Evening a three act feature of tragic beauty
MABEL TRUNNELLE and BIGELOW COOPER in
The Tragedies of the Crystal Globe
ADMISSION 10c AND 5c

MYERS Theatre
Matinee at 2:15
Evening at 8:10

COMING SOON

D. W. GRIFFITH'S GIGANTIC SPECTACLE

Symphony Orchestra of Forty.

PRICES:

Box seats, $1.50; main floor, $1.00; first 2 rows balcony, $1.00; next 4 rows balcony, 75c; balance balcony, 50c; gallery 25c.

Seat sale will be announced later.

MYERS THEATRE

BIG OPENING ATTRACTION

TONIGHT

The Best Musical Attraction this year

THE LADY IN RED

APOLLO

Matinee daily at 2:30

Evening 7:30 and 9:00

TONIGHT

AND SUNDAY

FEATURE VAUDEVILLE

ROSSINI

Italian accordionist. An artist of unusual talent.

ACT BEAUTIFUL

Story of the forest in living models.

The original "Act Beautiful" with Ringling Bros. last year.

SHARP, TANNER &amp; GILBERT

"High class service."

A farce comedy sketch.

VIRGILLIA

Singing novelty.

PHOTOPLAYS

of the better sort.

Matinee, 10c. Night, 10c, 20c

A REAL STAR CAST

21-SONG HITS--21

AUGMENTED ORCHESTRA

BIG BEAUTY CHORUS

DIRECT FROM 16

WEEKS' RUN

IN CHICAGO

GREATEST SINGING ORGANIZATION ON TOUR

THE BIGGEST HIT IN YEARS

Prices: Matinee—25c, 50c, 75c, $1.00 and $1.50.

Evening—Main floor, $1.50; first 4 rows balcony, $1.00; balance balcony, 75c; gallery, 50c.

Box seats, $2.00.

MYERS THEATRE

BY SPECIAL REQUEST

"THE LADY IN RED"

WILL PLAY HERE TOMORROW EVENING

To accommodate the many who could not attend a Saturday evening performance "The Lady in Red" company have graciously agreed to play here again tomorrow evening.

The "Lady in Red" is the daintiest operetta of the times. Don't miss it.

Prices: Main floor, $1.50; first 4 rows balcony, $1.00; balance balcony, 75c; gallery, 50c. Box seats, $2.00.

RESERVE YOUR SEATS EARLY TOMORROW MORNING. THE HOUSE WILL BE SOLD OUT EARLY.

INSTRUCTION GIVEN ON CARE OF SILAGE

Corn Makes Silage When Ears Are Dented or Just Beginning to Glaze.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]
Madison, Sept. 11.—Corn makes the best silage when the majority of the ears are dented or just beginning to glaze. If corn is put into the silo before this stage of maturity is reached, the silage becomes very sour or acid and is apt to have a low feeding value.

If the crop is allowed to get ripe or dry out in any way it does not pack well, and being deficient in moisture is almost certain to produce moldy silage unless properly handled.

When corn is dry and being allowed to ripen or from frost, it will make good silage if water is added at the time of filling. No definite rule can be given as to the proper amount of water to add and individual judgment must guide. The aim should be to add enough to make the moisture content equal to that of green corn. The water should be added while the fodder is being put in the silo, otherwise it may fail to reach all parts, thus causing moldy spots.

It is very essential that the cut corn be thoroughly mixed after it is elevated or blown into the silo. If this is not done the heavier portions will fall in one place and the lighter material in another. This will cause the silage to be of uneven quality.

Evenly and spoiled silage may result. Uniformity is also desirable to insure the best results in feeding. During the process of silaging, the silage should be kept slightly higher at the edges than in the center of the silo and well tramped close to sides where the friction of the wall tends to prevent settling.

A trap in the center for the weight of a man is little compared with the weight of a silage. Silos that are deep and of large diameter require less tramping than those of smaller dimension. Usually one competent man who understands the importance of the work is sufficient in silos of medium size.

Silage is usually cut in one-half inch lengths. If cut longer than this the silage will refuse to eat the coarser portions of the stalk, thus causing much waste.

It is not necessary to put any covering on after the filling is completed and unless there happens to be some cheap refuse close at hand, such as weeds, sweet clover, etc., the saving will not pay for the extra labor. A few inches of the top will always spoil, but if the ears are removed from the last few loads of corn no such waste will be necessary.

The usual practice is to wet down the surface immediately after filling and tramp thoroughly several times during the filling. All spoiled silage should be removed and discarded.

The silo should be well ventilated until the heating and fermentation have subsided.

TOWN LINE

Town Line, Sept. 9.—Mrs. Julia Duncan who has been quite ill with stomach trouble is improving slowly.

Herman Behling is at the Mercy hospital at Janesville, suffering from an attack of blood poisoning in his hand. He is being treated by Dr. C. C. Clanssen.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Stanley of Beloit spent Sunday at the home of D. Behling.

Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Eldredge entertained Sunday at their home on the River road. Mr. and Mrs. Melva Atwood and son of Rockford, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Stockwell of Rockford, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Blunk and son of Hebron, Mr. and Mrs. L. J. McGee and children of Beloit, and Miss Emma Hutchinson and nephew of Buffalo, N. Y., were guests.

Mrs. Will Loomer spent Sunday at Rockford.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pollard and son, Will, took in the Monroe race Wednesday.

Miss Anna Schumacher has been entertaining Miss Bertha Bretcher of Beloit for a few days.

Miss Evelyn Hallett has been the guest of her cousin, Mrs. Frank Pratt at Belvidere and attended the fair.

Fred Kouche has returned to his home at Chicago after spending the summer at the home of his grandmother, Mrs. Elfen Dahl, Afton road.

Mrs. Mary Burghart of Aurora, will spend a couple of months with Mrs. M. McCarthy.

Miss Ruth McCarthy left Saturday for North Lake, Wis., for a visit with friends. She will return home by the way of Milwaukee and attend the State fair.

Mrs. Robert Pollard visited friends in Janesville for a couple of days the first of the week.

School opened Tuesday in the Crist district with Miss Mabel Gunderson as teacher.

Miss Nellie McKee of Janesville will teach in District No. 2, Rock and Beloit, Miss Frances Conlin of Beloit, in the first district and Miss Norma Evansville will take up the work in joint District No. 1, Beloit and Rock, September 13. Owing to the death of her brother, Miss McKee was unable to begin her school Tuesday.

F. R. Eldredge and family moved from their summer home to their home in Beloit Monday.

DARIEN

Darien, Sept. 10.—Mrs. Fred Covell and son spent Thursday with Mrs. Eugene Zahn.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Rockwell will occupy Lucius Wright's house this winter while Mr. and Mrs. Wright are in California.

Miss Edith, who has been visiting her cousin, Miss Mayne Freyer, returned to her home in Minneapolis Thursday.

Mrs. Henry Frank returned Thursday night after spending a couple of days in Clinton.

E. H. Wood was a business visitor in Walworth Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Capen and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Wood and daughters and Miss Leah Rockwell, were Delavan visitors Thursday.

The Sunshine club met with Mrs. H. C. Beardsley Thursday afternoon. New officers were elected for the coming year. Mrs. B. R. Wise being appointed president, Mrs. Cummings retiring. The club also held their annual fair, a nice display of vegetables, fruits, flowers, pastry stores and fancy work being exhibited. The visitors were appointed judges. Before supper Mrs. Beardsley's little grandchildren passed around sacks of popcorn in imitation of the fair. The club has recently joined the Federation of Women's Clubs, which will enable them to get books free for study.

Mrs. Etherington of Sharon, was here this week canvassing for the Franco-American toilet articles.

DAIRY EXHIBITION TO BE RECORD ONE

Wisconsin's Exhibit of Butter and Cheese Will Reflect Credit Upon The Makers of State.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]
Madison, Wis., Sept. 11.—Wisconsin's exhibit of butter and cheese at the state fair is the finest ever shown and reflects great credit upon the makers of the state, said George A. Weigle, dairy and food commissioner today.

The display is the greatest ever brought together in Wisconsin and the quality of the butter entered for competition by more than 12 per cent of the factorymen of the state has never been equalled, according to men who did the scoring. The judges of the butter were C. E. Lee, assistant dairy commissioner, Prof. U. W. Hepburn of the University of Illinois, and Dairy and Food Commissioner J. J. Ross of Iowa. The judges of American cheese were L. A. Adolph and J. D. Cannon of the Wisconsin dairy and food department, and A. T. Brullin of the Wisconsin in Cheesemakers' association. Judges of foreign cheese were G. H. Hart of the university, and J. A. Lehnner of the dairy and food department.

Professor Lee has scored butter at three national competitions in the past six years, and declares that never has he seen such uniformly high quality. The exhibit of Swiss cheese is the greatest ever shown in this country. It is the result of the university, the department, who is superintendent of the exhibit.

"There is evidence," said Commissioner Lee, "that the inspection and educational work conducted by the dairy and food department is already bringing results. Factory men everywhere have shown a willingness to co-operate with the department for the general betterment of the business."

CLINTON

Clinton, Sept. 10.—Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Grier of Chicago were here yesterday to call on Mrs. Grier's cousins, the Misses Elizabeth and Anna Smith.

Mrs. Frank M. Warner of Milton Junction, near Madison, is here here having been in the hospital at Janesville, is doing as well as can be expected, and unless serious complications arise, she will soon be on her feet to complete recovery of her health.

Mrs. Otto Derwald of Esteban, Sask., Canada, is visiting her mother and numerous friends and old neighbors.

H. W. Knowlton of Pecanola, is visiting his daughter, Mrs. E. B. Kizer, and family.

DeWitt Johnson, Jr., of Red Granite, Wis., spent Sunday here, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. E. Greene.

Miss Katherine V. Williams went to Milton Junction last evening to assist at the home of Mrs. F. Warner.

W. H. Hughes has let the contract for his new home to G. C. Crabtree of Crystal Lake, brother of G. R. Crabtree of this place.

Which will occupy Mr. Hughes' lot on West Cross street, will be a model of comfort and convenience. The exterior will be entirely different from anything else in our city and will make Mr. and Mrs. Hughes an ideal home and a great improvement to our town.

Water Barer of Rockford, formerly a shoe merchant of Clinton, was here Wednesday and Thursday, combining business and pleasure and calling on old friends.

Chas. McCombs went to Chicago Monday noon for a couple of days and while there purchased a second hand Pierce Arrow touring car.

Chas. McCombs returned to Delavan yesterday (Thursday) afternoon. The contractor has nearly finished the work on Milwaukee street.

Dr. W. R. Veigel, pastor Baptist church, visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Veigel, who he has concluded he could not continue his studies at the University of Chicago and act as their pastor also, and it was therefore necessary for him to give up one of the other. He left he must give up the pastorate and continue his studies and would hand in his resignation today or tomorrow.

Rev. Clyde McGee and wife of Chicago came out Thursday evening, Monday, Friday noon, Mr. Lamb officiated at the Conquist-McGee wedding.

AVALON

Avalon, Sept. 10.—Mr. and Mrs. F. Dockhorn returned Tuesday morning from a two weeks' visit with relatives in Iowa.

A number from here attended Labor day celebration in Clinton.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Boynton spent Monday in Clinton, the guests of Mrs. Mary Scott and daughters.

School commenced Monday with Miss Edna Erdman of Berlin, Wis., as teacher.

Ralph Dandee and lady friend of Milwaukee were week-end guests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Dandee.

Mr. E. R. Ransom was calling on relatives here Monday.

The high school pupils have all returned to their respective schools: Kenneth Veigel, David Dean, Waldon Veigel and Neva Ward to Janesville high school; Bessie Stoney to Clinton, and Elizabeth Paulson to Rockford.

Miss Leah Veigel took up her work as teacher for the year in the Wetmore district.

Miss Louise Tuckwood of Janesville was the guest of Mrs. Wm. Reid a few days.

Mrs. O. Rye and Mrs. Walter Carlson of White Water; Miss Mary Hackwell of Fairfield; Mrs. Ed. Paul, Miss Lavonia Gleason, Mrs. Wm. Lamb and daughter of Janesville, and Miss Esther Kemp were visitors at Chas. Hackwell's last Friday.

AFTON

Afton, Sept. 9.—Bernice Sennett, Floyd Brinkman, Elliott Mueller, Zebo Woodstock and Edwin Teubert entered Janesville high school Monday place this year. Marie Sennett will attend business college at Janesville.

Mrs. Van Dusen of Rochelle, Ill., is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Griffin.

The annual meeting of the Afton Anti-Horse Thief association was held Tuesday evening at eight o'clock in the Afton hall. The program was good. A. J. Fuller was voted into membership. The election of officers resulted as follows: President, Fred Rehfeld; first vice president, Charles Griffin; second vice president, Charles Kimer; secretary, David Thorne; treasurer, George Otis.

Bargains of all kinds in Gazette's want ads.

Milton Junction News

Milton Junction, Sept. 11.—In the horse judging of the Harvest Festival Thursday for the best single driving horse, Mrs. Homer Potter and Susie Burdick received first; Mr. Tiffany received first for best combined horse and rider, best single driving horse, S. C. Chambers first, Joe Masterson second. Best driving team, R. Becker first, A. J. Barless second. Best all purpose team, Carl Hanson first, Alf Austin second. Best riding horse, Susie Burdick first, Grace Noey second. Best blooded team, Ralph Hudson first, Fred Wright second. Best farm team, Ralph Hudson first, Allan Davidson second. Best combined horse and rider, Ralph Hudson first, Frank Maxwell second. Saddle ponies (under 55 inches), Mary Gahagan first, Russell Westrick second. In automobile race, Roy Carey won the prize for the slowest walking horse. The Milton winning team in the big car was composed of G. D. Wikon, Capt. George, Harry Green, Herman Clarke and Charles Splitter.

Harvest Festival Aftermath. Although the merchants had their windows and stores finely decorated, the dining room of the old Monroe Hotel, W. R. Williams, Prop., deserves special mention.

The star of the evening was the rocking chair given by R. W. Kelly in the bean guessing contest.

James Stockman won the dollar prize for guessing the number in the bank draft guessing contest.

Robert Clarke and wife of Rock Prairie spent Friday with their daughter, Mrs. John Paul.

Miss Alma Hall of Roscoe, Ill., is visiting her grandfather, A. M. Hull.

Mrs. James Lison and family, who have been visiting her sister, Mrs. Maud Moriarty, have returned to their home in Evanston, Ill.

Dr. Frank Lyons and wife spent Friday at the Waterworks fair.

Miss Ella Griffin, sister-in-law of Mrs. Charles Heine, at Elgin, Ill., Mrs. Moore of Chicago is a guest of her son, Edwin Moore, and wife.

A teachers' meeting will be held in the high school building this evening. The Portnightly club met Friday afternoon. Hostess, Mrs. Richardson. President's greeting, Mrs. Richardson. Miss L. Burdick, Miss Vickerman, Miss Dora, Miss Cornelia, Roll call—Vacation reminiscences.

Mrs. C. W. Thiry and Ellen Brown spent today with Mrs. James Hevey of Fort Atkinson.

Whitewater News

Whitewater, Sept. 11.—Wm. Shock and family left today for Plymouth, Wis., for a few days.

Mr. Shock proposes to purchase some cattle to replace the herd he lost through the hoof and mouth disease last fall.

Miss Margery Griffith left today for Stoughton to teach in the city schools.

Miss Nellie Saunders left for Monroe today to teach.

A. Larkin is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Larkin a few days before returning to his studies at Rush Medical college.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Case and Miss Clara returned home the first of the week. They have been away since July visiting at Elgin, Ill., and Charlevoix, Mich.

Dr. C. W. Parish has returned from his trip to the Pacific coast having been gone about two months.

Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Nichols left last Tuesday for Casnovia, N. Y., to visit his sister.

Miss Sarah Dickey, a teacher in the Waukesha High School is visiting. Mildred Averill a few days.

Gardner School seriously injured with a carbuncle on the back of his neck.

A baby boy was born Wednesday evening to Laura Kings, Beckwith of Hartford, Conn.

A windstorm struck this place yesterday about one o'clock and did considerable damage. Several trees in the city were blown down, and uprooted and telephone and electric light wires were blown down. That was about the only place where any damage was done.

Brodhead News

Brodhead, Sept. 10.—Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Perga left Wednesday for a sojourn in the West.

Miss Della Anderson went to Albany on Thursday for a short stay with friends.

Myron Northcraft was down from Juda Thursday.

Mrs. Farber of Orfordville spent Thursday with Brodhead friends.

Rev. and Mrs. A. A. Franz and little daughter returned from a Racine visit Thursday noon.

Miss Louise Hanson of Janesville and Miss Jackson Amy came on Thursday to visit Mr. and Mrs. Jack Collins.

Miss Susan Lathrop of Madison is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Gardner.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Kibbe returned Wednesday from Rochester, Minnesota, where they were guests of friends.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Day and Mrs. George Ross are the guests of Monroe friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Kibbe were in Albany today, the guests of friends.

Orfordville News

Orfordville, Sept. 10.—Mrs. Will Krueger and relatives left for Monroe, and incidentally seeing the Green county fair.

Vel Taylor and family of Janesville, are spending a day or two with relatives in the city.

Hunters in this section are not slow to take advantage of the open game season and are in quest of everything that comes within the law.

Mrs. Mary and daughter entered were among the morning passengers to Janesville on Friday.

During the storm on Wednesday evening the large barn on the George Larmer farm, two miles south of the village, was struck by lightning and with its contents burned to the ground. The building was a large one and contained from several to one hundred tons of hay. The loss is partially covered by insurance. For a time it looked as though other of the out-buildings would be destroyed, but fortunately they were spared.

The north, thus carrying the flames away from them.

B. J. Taylor purchased from a farmer in Durand, Ill., and had delivered to him a herd of cattle, consisting of fifty-four head, for which he paid the handsome sum of three thousand dollars.

Evansville News

Evansville, Sept. 11.—W. C. Davis of Janesville, who was en route for Chicago for the bicycle Thursday night, collided with a cow on the Madison road. Mr. Davis was thrown from his machine, sustaining numerous bruises. He was brought to this city, where he received medical attention, and was able to return to his home yesterday, via C. & N. W. R. R.

Mrs. V. H. Campbell and Miss Pearl Campbell attended the meeting of the Economic club at Footville Thursday.

Frank Hyne and Frank Topper motored to Monticello recently.

Fred Shuttles was a Janesville business visitor yesterday.

Colonel W. C. Colwell attended the Economic club meeting at Footville this week.

P. W. Gillman left today for Milwaukee, where he will assist at the state fair.

Father McDermott and mother motored to Milwaukee Thursday for a few days.

Frank Hyne went to Madison yesterday driving home a new auto.

Paul P. Pullen left for Milwaukee today, where he will assist at the state fair.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Bullard of Madison were here yesterday, called by the death and funeral of the late W. E. Bullard.

High Clara of Beloit, who was returning from vacation trip to Detroit, Chicago, Buffalo and Niagara Falls, paid friends in this city a call yesterday.

Miss Lucile Hope of Clinton is spending a few days here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hope.

Miss Lillian Spencer of Clinton is spending the week end with her parents in this city.

H. L. Austin of this city will assist at the state fair the coming week.

John Scheible and Sabatino was a visitor here the middle of the week.

Mrs. C. M. Smith and Miss Mary Casey attended the fair at Monroe this week.

Bernard Mahar of Madison is the guest of Mrs. W. H. Wainwright this week.

Miss Grace Thurman attended the Monroe fair yesterday.

Mrs. W. Sanders has returned from a visit with friends at Janesville.

Mrs. J. B. Johnson of Madison is visiting her daughter, Mrs. F. Roberts, at Monroe today.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Devine attended the Monroe fair Thursday.

Miss Cora Morgan of Madison is spending the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Morgan.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Hubbard and daughter of Beloit were here yesterday to attend the funeral of the late W. E. Bullard.

D. W. Wright and son Charles of Minnesota were called here by the death and funeral of Miss Eliza Wright.

Mr. and Mrs. George Burns of Chicago were here yesterday to attend the funeral of the latter's father, W. E. Bullard.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Johnson of Madison is visiting her daughter, Mrs. F. Roberts, at Monroe today.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Devine attended the Monroe fair Thursday.

Miss Cora Morgan of Madison is spending the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Morgan.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Hubbard and daughter of Beloit were here yesterday to attend the funeral of the late W. E. Bullard.

D. W. Wright and son Charles of Minnesota were called here by the death and funeral of Miss Eliza Wright.

Mr. and Mrs. George Burns of Chicago were here yesterday to attend the funeral of the latter's father, W. E. Bullard.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Johnson of Madison is visiting her daughter, Mrs. F. Roberts, at Monroe today.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Devine attended the Monroe fair Thursday.

Miss Cora Morgan of Madison is spending the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Morgan.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Hubbard and daughter of Beloit were here yesterday to attend the funeral of the late W. E. Bullard.

D. W. Wright and son Charles of Minnesota were called here by the death and funeral of Miss Eliza Wright.

Edgerton News

Edgerton, Sept. 11.—Mrs. W. F. Hyes and daughter, Mrs. Kings, of Chicago who have been visiting at the home of Geo. W. Babcock at Albion, returned home today.

Mrs. C. H. Sutton left today for a week's visit in Janesville.

Miss Florence Haskins who accompanied Miss Maria Johnson on a trip to the Yellowstone National Park, returned home yesterday and departed today for Mineral Point, to spend Sunday at the home of her parents.

Miss Marina Johnson stopped off in Minneapolis to visit at the home of relatives and expects to arrive home in Edgerton the fore part of next week.

Miss Emily Lord returned home from her vacation, spent at the home of her nephew, Frank McGiffen, who lives in Minnesota.

Alvin Green and son, Howard, of Janesville, motored to Edgerton today.

Jim Sims of the Carlton Hotel force has gone to Chicago to visit friends for a few days.

Chas. Wusow went to Chicago on a business trip Friday.

Adolph Jensen left for Milwaukee today to begin his duties at the State fair.

Al Anderson and family have gone to Lodi to spend the week visiting friends and relatives and while there expect to take in the Lodi fair.

The week end visiting at the home of his brother, Professor F. O. Holt.

Mrs. Elwin Johnson of Milton is a week end visitor at the home of Mrs. D. M. Sadie Hall departed for Albert, Minn., today, where she expects to teach the coming year in the High School.

Frank Hitchcock left today for Constantine, Turkey, where he will teach civil engineering in the University of Turkey, coming year.

Mrs. Chas. Hull of Wellsville, N. Y., spent a portion of the week visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Anson, Beloit.

Miss Marium and Christine Baugh of Baltimore, Md., are visiting at the home of their aunt, Mrs. Arthur Chas. Baugh, here.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenyon Coon of Chicago, returned to their home today, after an extended visit at the home of Mr. Coon at Albion.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Miller and daughter of Madison, came last evening for an extended visit at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Pomeroy.

The Edgerton baseball team will meet the Palmyra baseball team at the Edgerton baseball park in this city Sunday.

The Palmyra squad has a good record and as the Edgerton team has won its last four games straight, an excellent game is anticipated between the two teams.

F. W. Jensen is in Janesville today on business.

Fred B. Gleave and Dr. F. C. Mendenhall have been on a fishing and hunting trip in the northern woods of Wisconsin, returned home this morning. They report the fishing very fair and the hunting rather poor, but the expedition a success.

BROOKLYN

Brooklyn, Sept. 10.—Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Armstrong and family returned Sunday from a visit with relatives at Valley Junction.

The public school opened Tuesday after the summer vacation. There will be three school assistants this year, Misses Thompson, Conway and Voelker.

Professor Berge, Miss Knudsen, Miss Spencer and Miss Knudsen will resume their positions of last year. The new features of the school work this year will be the organization of a six year high school course and the institution of a domestic science course.

Rev. J. W. Barnett returned Monday from attending conference at Eau Claire. He has been reappointed to this charge for the coming year.

Miss Angeline Tullis began teaching school Monday in the Union school.

Fred Bubb was a Madison visitor Friday.

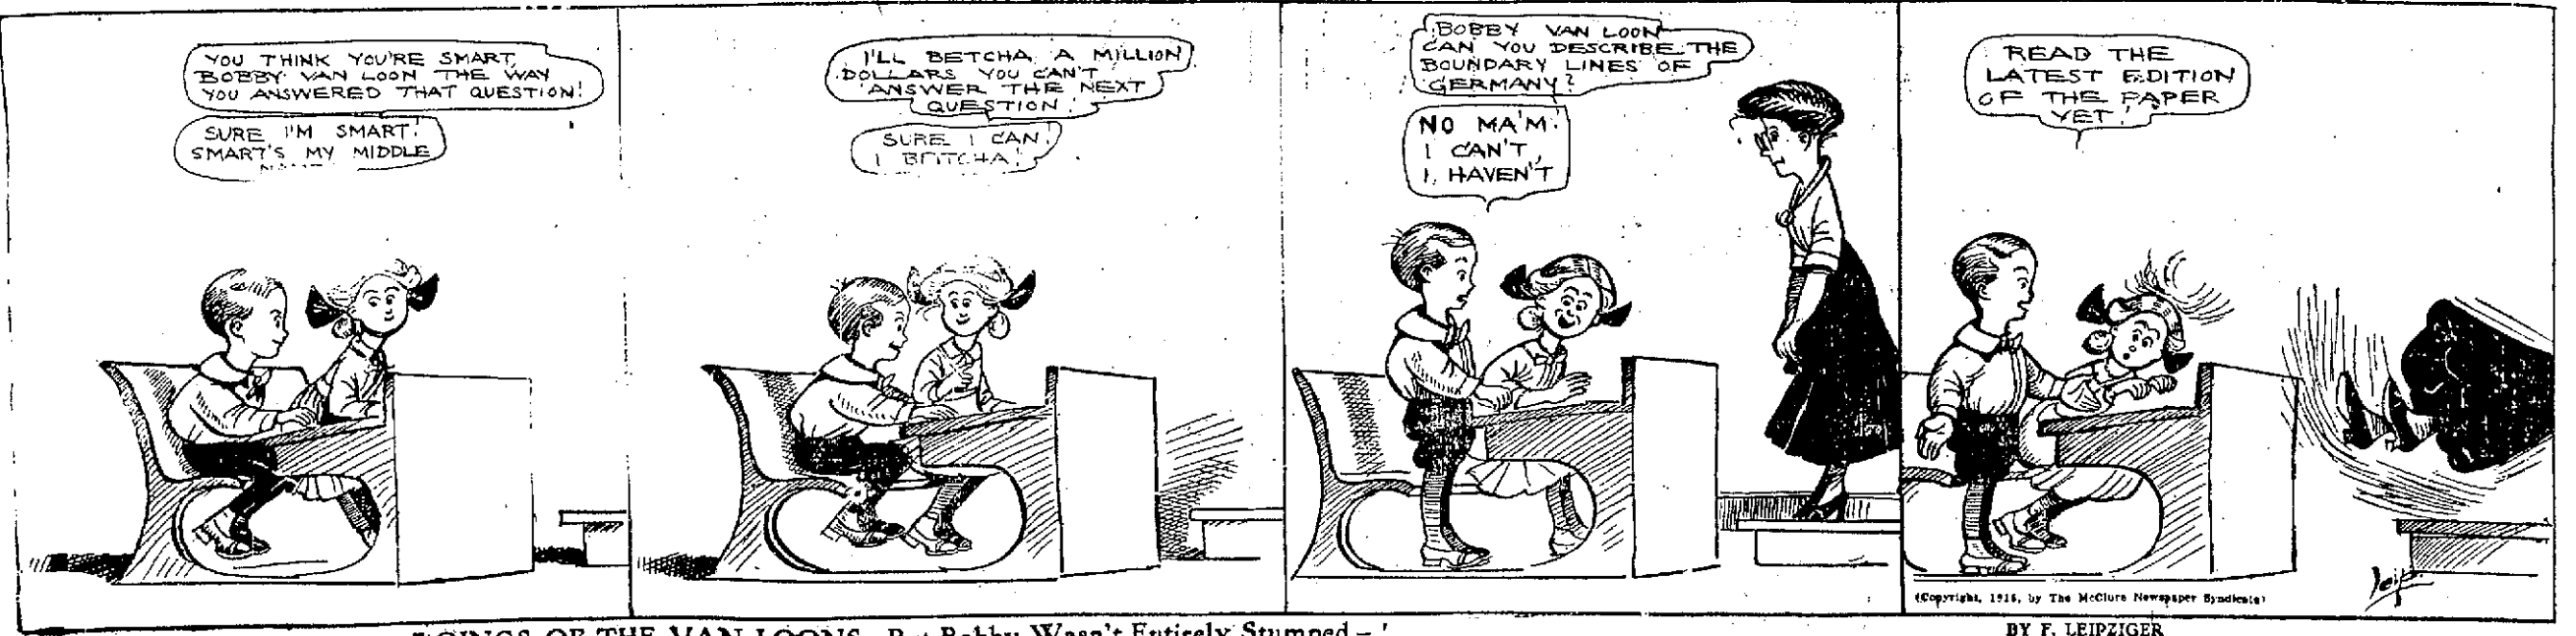

Miss Elizabeth Rice of Hillsboro is visiting her sister, Mrs. A. J. Berge.

Miss Anna Peterson left last week for Columbus, where she

DOINGS OF THE VAN LOONS—But Robby Wasn't Entirely Stumped.—

BY F. LEIPZIGER

The Thousandth Woman

By ERNEST W. HORNUNG

Author of "The Amateur Crackman," "Raffles," etc.

Illustrations by O. IRWIN MYERS

Copyright by the Bobbs-Merrill Company. "It was simply glorious coming down," he said. "I wouldn't swap that three-quarters of an hour for a bale of wool. You can't think how every mortal thing on the way appealed to me. The only blot was a funeral at Barnes; it seemed such a sin to be buried on a day like this, and a fellow like me coming home to enjoy himself!"

He had turned grave, but not graver than at the actual moment coming down. Indeed, he was simply coming down again, for her benefit and his own, without an ulterior trouble until Blanche took him up with a long face of her own.

"We've had a funeral here. I suppose you know?"

"Yes, I know." Her chair creaked as she leaned forward with an enthusiastic solemnity that would have made her shriek, if she had seen herself; but it had no such effect on Cazalet.

"I wonder who can have done it!" "So do the police, and they don't look much like finding out!"

"It must have been for his watch and money, don't you think? And yet they say he had so many enemies!" Cazalet kept silence; but she thought he winced. "Of course it must have been the man who ran out of the drive," she concluded hastily. "Where were you when it happened, Sweep?"

Sweep, who don't mean to say you came by a German steamer?"

"I do. It was the first going, and why should I waste a week? Besides, you can generally get a cabin to yourself on the German line."

"So that's why you're here before the end of the month," said Blanche. "Well, I call it most unparliamentary; but the cabin to yourself was certainly some excuse."

"That reminds me!" he exclaimed.

"Where Did You Meet the Fellow?" He inquired.

"I hadn't it to myself all the way; there was another fellow in with me from Genoa; and the last night on board it came out that he knew you!"

"Who can it have been?"

"Toye, his name was. Hilton Toye." "An American man! Oh, but I know him very well," said Blanche in a tone both strained and cordial. "He's great fun, Mr. Toye, with his delightful Americanisms, and the perfectly delightful way he says them!"

Cazalet puckered like the primitive man he was, when taken at all by surprise; and that anybody, much less Blanche, should think Toye, of all people, either "delightful" or "great fun" was certainly a surprise to him. If it was nothing else, of course it was nothing else, to his immediate knowledge; still, he was rather ready to think that Blanche was blushing, but forgot, if indeed he had been in a state to see it at the time, that she had paid himself the same high compliment across the gate. On the whole, it may be said that Cazalet was ruffled without feeling seriously disturbed as to the essential issue which alone leaped to his mind.

"Where did you meet the fellow?" he inquired, with the suitable admixture of confidence and amusement. "In the first instance, at Engelberg."

"Engelberg! Where's that?" "Only one of those places in Switzerland where everybody goes nowadays for what they call winter sports."

She was not even smiling at his arrogant ignorance; she was merely explaining one geographical point and another of general information. A close observer might have thought her almost anxious not to identify herself too closely with a popular craze.

"I dare say you mentioned it," said Cazalet, but rather as though he was wondering why she had not.

"I dare say I didn't! Everything won't go into an annual letter. It was the winter before last—I went out with Betty and her husband."

"And after that he took a place down here?"

"Yes. Then I met him on the river the following summer, and found he'd got rooms in one of the Neill Gwynne Cottages; if you call that a place."

"I see."

But there was no more to see; there never had been much, but now Blanche was standing up and gazing out of the balcony into the belt of singing sunshine between the opposite side of the road and the invisible river across away.

"Why shouldn't we go down to Littleford and get out the boat if you're really going to make an afternoon of it?" she said. "But you simply must see Martha first; and while she's making herself fit to be seen, you must take something for the good of the house. I'll bring it to you on a lordly tray."

She brought him siphon, stoppered bottle, a silver biscuit-box of ancient memories, and left him alone with them some little time; for the young mistress, like her old retainer in another minute, was simply dying to make herself more presentable. Yet when she had done so, and came back like snow, in a shirt and skirt just home from the laundry, she saw that he did not see the difference. His devouring eyes shone neither more nor less; but he had also devoured every biscuit in the box, though he had begun by vowing that he had lunched in town, and stuck to the fable still.

Old Martha had known him all his life, but best at the period when he used to come to nursery tea at Littleford. She declared she would have known him anywhere as he was, but she simply hadn't recognized him in that photograph with his beard.

"I can see where it's been," said Martha, looking him in the lower temperate zone. "But I'm so glad you've had it off, Mr. Cazalet."

"There you are, Blanche!" crowed Cazalet. "You said she'd be disappointed, but Martha's got better taste."

"It isn't that, sir," said Martha earnestly. "It's because the dreadful man who was seen running out of the drive, at your old home, he had a beard! It's in all the notices about him, and that's what's put me against them, and makes me glad you've had yours off."

Blanche turned to him with too ready a smile; but then she was really not such a great age as she pretended, and she had never been in better spirits in her life.

"You hear, Sweep! I call it rather lucky for you that you were—"

But just then she saw his face, and remembered the things that had been said about Henry Craven by the Cazalets' friends, even ten years ago, when she really had been a girl.

CHAPTER V.

An Untimely Visitor.

She really was one still, for in these days it is an elastic term, and in Blanche's case there was no apparent reason why it should ever cease to apply, or to be applied by every decent tongue except her own.

Much the best tennis-player among the ladies of the neighborhood, she drove an almost unbecomingly long ball at golf, and never looked better than when paddling her old canoe, or punting in the old punt. And yet, this wonderful September afternoon, she did somehow look even better than at either or any of those congenial pursuits, and that long before they reached the river; in the empty house, which had known her as baby, child and grown-up girl, to the companion of some part of all three stages, she looked a more lustrous and a lovelier Blanche than he remembered even of old.

But she was not really lovely in the least; that also must be put beyond the pale of misconception. Her hair was beautiful, and perhaps her skin, and, in some lights, her eyes; the rest was not. It was yellow hair, not gold as it was not. It was yellow hair, not gold as it was not.

"Mr. Cazalet," said Toye, "I Guess You Want to Know What I'm Doing on Your Track."

on, and Cazalet would have given all he had about him to see it down again as in the oldest of old days; but there was more gold in her skin, for so the sun had treated it; and there was even hint or glint (in certain lights, be it repeated) of gold mingling with the pure hazel of her eyes. But in the dusty shadows of the empty house, moving like a sunbeam across its bare boards, standing out against the discolored walls in the place of remembered pictures not to be compared with her, it was there that she was all golden and still girl.

They poked their noses into, and they had a laugh in every corner and so out upon the leafy lawn, shelving abruptly to the river. Last of all there was the summer schoolroom over the boat-house, quite apart from the house itself; scene of such safe yet reckless revels; in its very aura late Victorian!

It lay hidden in ivy at the end of a now neglected path; the bow-windows overlooking the river were framed in ivy, like three matted, whiskered, dirty, happy faces; one, with its lower sash propped open by a broken plant-pot, might have been grinning a toothless welcome to two once leading spirits of the place.

Cazalet whittled a twig and wedged that sash up altogether; then he sat himself on the sill, his long legs inside. But his knife had reminded him of his plug tobacco. And his plug tobacco took him as a straight back to the bush as though the unsound floor had changed under their feet into a magic carpet.

"You simply have it put down to the man's account in the station books. Nobody keeps ready money up at the bush, not even the price of a plug like this; but the chap I'm telling you about (I can see him now, with his great red beard and freckled fists) he swore I was charging him for half a pound more than he'd ever had. We fought for twenty minutes behind the wood-heap; then he gave me best, but I had to turn in till I could see again."

"You don't mean that he—"

Blanche had looked rather disgusted the moment before; now she was all truculent suspense and indignation.

"Beat me?" he cried. "Good Lord, no; but there was none too much in it."

Fires died down in her hazel eyes, lay lambent as soft moonlight, flickered into laughter before he had seen the fire.

"I'm afraid you're a very dangerous person," said Blanche.

"You've got to be," he assured her; "it's the only way. Don't take a word from anybody, unless you mean him to wipe his boots on you. I soon found that out. I'd have given something to have learned the noble art before I went out. Did I ever tell you how it was I first came across old Venus Potts?"

He had told her at great length, to the exclusion of about every other topic, in the second of the annual letters; and throughout the series the inevitable name of Venus Potts had seldom dropped without some allusion to that Homeric encounter. But it was well worth while having it all over again with the intricate and picturesque embroidery of a tongue far mightier than the pen flittingly employed upon the incident. Poor Blanche had almost to hold her nose over the primary cause of battle; but the dialogue was delightful, and Cazalet himself made a most gallant and engaging figure as he sat on the sill and reeled it out.

Twenty minutes later, and old Venus Potts was still on the magic tapis, though Cazalet had dropped his boasting for a curiously humble, eager and yet ineffectual vein.

"Old Venus Potts!" he kept ejaculating. "You couldn't help liking him. And he'd like you, my word!"

"Is his wife nice?" Blanche wanted to know; but she was looking so intently out her window, at the opposite end of the bow to Cazalet's, that a man of the wider world might have thought of something else to talk about.

Out her window she looked past a willow that had been part of the old life, in the direction of an equally typical silhouette of patient anglers anchored in a punt; they had not raised a rod between them during all this time that Blanche had been out in Australia; but as a matter of fact she never saw them, since, vastly to the credit of Cazalet's descriptive powers, she was out in Australia still.

"Nelly Potts?" he said. "Oh, a jolly good sort; you'd be awful pals."

"Should we?" said Blanche, just smiling at her invisible anglers.

"I know you would," he assured her with immense conviction. "Of course she can't do the things you do; but she can ride, my word! So she ought to, when she's lived there all her life. The rooms aren't much, but the verandas are what count most; they're better than any rooms."

She was still out there, cultivating Nelly Potts on a very deep veranda, though her straw hat and straw hair remained in contradictory evidence against a very dirty window on the Middlesex bank of the Thames. It was a shame of the September sun to show the dirt as it was doing; not only was there a great steady pool of sunshine on the unspeakable floor, but a doddering reflection from the river on the disreputable ceiling. Cazalet looked rather desperately from one to the other, and both the calm pool and the rough were broken by shadows, one more impressionistic than the other, of a straw hat over a stack of straw, that had not gone out to Australia—yet.

And of course just then a step sounded outside somewhere on some gravel. Confound those caretakers! What were they doing, prowling about?

"I say, Blanche!" he blurted out. "I do believe you'd like it out there, a sportswoman like you! I believe you'd take it like a duck to water."

He had floundered to his feet as well. He was standing over her, feeling his way like a great fatuous coward, so some might have thought. But it really looked as though Blanche was not attending to what he did say; yet neither was she watching her little anglers stamped in jet upon the silvery stream, nor even seeing any more of Nelly Potts in the Australian veranda. She had come home from Australia, and come in from the river, and she was watching the open door at the other end of the old schoolroom, listening to those confounded steps coming nearer and nearer—and Cazalet was gazing at her as though he really had said something that deserved an answer.

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

NEW SWITCH IS AUTOMATIC

Device for Controlling Electric Currents Made Movable by Hand in One Direction.

In describing an automatic electric switch designed by John L. Polk of Menands, N. Y., the Scientific American says:

This automatic switch is for use in controlling electric currents, the switch in one of its movements being automatic, and also sluggish in its action. More particularly stated a switch is provided having a lever movable by hand in one direction and movable in the opposite direction by the action of a spring and against the tension of purchasing anything. As he passed one stall the young lady seized a cigarette-holder.

"Won't you buy a cigarette-holder, sir?" she asked.

"No, thank you. I don't smoke," was the reply.

"On a pennyworth worked with my own hand," she said.

"Then do have this nice box of chocolates?"

"I don't eat sweets."

The young lady's patience was exhausted.

"Sir," she said, grimly, "will you buy this cake of soap?"

He bought it.

A MERCILESS JUDGE

One Who Shows No Favor.

A merciless judge is Father Time. Before him the weak and the wanting go to the wall. Only the truth can stand. For years the following statement from a Janesville resident has withstood this sternest of all tests.

Mrs. Mohs, 310 N. Academy St., Janesville, says: "I was suffering from an attack of kidney trouble. I went to the People's Drug Co. and got a supply of Doan's Kidney Pills. One or two boxes cured the ailments." (Statement given Aug. 25, 1908).

OVER FOUR YEARS LATER Mrs. Mohs said: "I haven't had any trouble from my kidneys since Doan's Kidney Pills cured me."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Mohs had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

Automatic Switch.

Pushing pressure of a dash pot for the purpose of retarding the movement or rendering it sluggish, the idea being that when the switch lever is in one of its extreme positions it closes one electric circuit, and a few moments afterward opens that circuit and automatically closes another. A plan view is shown herewith complete, the lever occupying its extreme position to the left and closing one of the circuits.

Automatic Switch.

Automatic Switch.

Automatic Switch.

Automatic Switch.

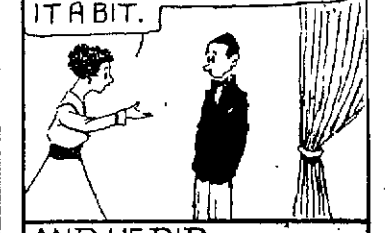

Automatic Switch.

Automatic Switch.

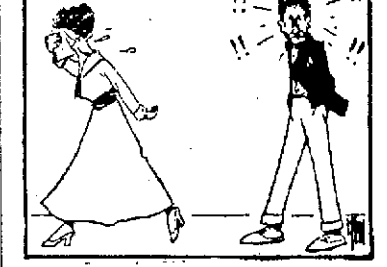

Automatic Switch.

Automatic Switch.

JOHN DEAR—I WISH YOU'D EXPLAIN BASE BALL TO ME. I DON'T UNDERSTAND IT A BIT.

AND HE DID—

ABE MARTIN

A loafer allus gits his hair cut on Saturday night. Some folks are never so happy as when they're swappin' ailments.

Dinner Stories

Business was in full swing at the church bazaar when a young man strolled around evidently with no in-

Are You a Good Listener?

A little over a year ago, Carl Sulzer put his brain bread on the Chicago market, after years of study and experimenting with his formula.

After a few months he realized that he was at the end of his rope, for two reasons: first, because his original formula had not stood up under the first hot weather, and it was hard to recover his lost ground with his perfected formula, and second, because business conditions made it a poor year to try to launch a ten cent loaf, in spite of its health giving properties.

He was selling 1800 loaves a day, with no prospect of selling more.

Then a newspaper advertising specialist proposed a plan, in substance: in spite of a wide spread but mistaken idea among bakers that sellers of five and ten cent articles can't afford newspaper advertising, he proposed to prove that the newspapers would in reality be the making of this bakery business.

And Carl Sulzer listened.

He listened in the sense of heeding and inaugurated the proposed year's campaign, investing $3,000.

The first ad brought him orders from Tennessee, Ohio and Colorado, and within five months his sales had grown from $800 to $4800 a week. He is still advertising and still growing.

Whether you are selling a five cent article or a costly one, when a man talks sales increase, it pays you to listen.

That is what we want to talk about to YOU.

WILL YOU LISTEN?

Daily Gazette.

Daily Gazette.

Daily Gazette.

Daily Gazette.

Daily Gazette.

Daily Gazette.

Daily Gazette.

Daily Gazette.

Daily Gazette.

Daily Gazette.

Daily Gazette.

Daily Gazette.

Daily Gazette.

Daily Gazette.

Daily Gazette.

It's a good thing you had accident insurance, isn't it? That fall must have laid you up for two weeks. "I know, but it doesn't help me out in this case."

"And why not?" "Why, it carried a clause forbidding me to engage in any extra hazardous occupation."

"Well, you weren't, were you?" "Yes, I was trying to sell Jones some life insurance."

"We're a growing town," said the leading citizen of Painted Post. "I don't know," said the traveling man, "there aren't any more people here than there was last year."

"I know that," said the broad resident, "but the Smith twins put on long pants last week."

"What's the matter with the strong man?" said the manager half an hour before the curtain was to go up. "Oh, he sent word he couldn't appear today," said the assistant manager.

"What's the matter?" excitedly demanded the manager. "Was he in an accident? That juggling act of his with cannon balls was one of the best things in the show."

"No, he had to help his wife with the dishes last night and he's got a lame back."

What U. S. city?

What U. S. city?

What U. S. city?

What U. S. city?

What U. S. city?

What U. S. city?

What U. S. city?

What U. S. city?

What U. S. city?

What U. S. city?

What U. S. city?

What U. S. city?

What U. S. city?

What U. S. city?

What U. S. city?

What U. S. city?

What U. S. city?

What U. S. city?

What U. S. city?

What U. S. city?

What U. S. city?

What U. S. city?

What U. S. city?

What U. S. city?

What U. S. city?

What U. S. city?

What U. S. city?

What U. S. city?

What U. S. city?

What U. S. city?

DAT'S MY DUSKY BELLE

DAT'S MY DUSKY BELLE

DAT'S MY DUSKY BELLE

DAT'S MY DUSKY BELLE

DAT'S MY DUSKY BELLE

DAT'S MY DUSKY BELLE

DAT'S MY DUSKY BELLE

DAT'S MY DUSKY BELLE

DAT'S MY DUSKY BELLE

DAT'S MY DUSKY BELLE

DAT'S MY DUSKY BELLE

DAT'S MY DUSKY BELLE

DAT'S MY DUSKY BELLE

DAT'S MY DUSKY BELLE

DAT'S MY DUSKY BELLE

DAT'S MY DUSKY BELLE

DAT'S MY DUSKY BELLE

DAT'S MY DUSKY BELLE

DAT'S MY DUSKY BELLE

DAT'S MY DUSKY BELLE

DAT'S MY DUSKY BELLE

DAT'S MY DUSKY BELLE

DAT'S MY DUSKY BELLE

DAT'S MY DUSKY BELLE

DAT'S MY DUSKY BELLE

DAT'S MY DUSKY BELLE

</

